THUNDERSTORM TO BREAK HEAT WAVE

Unbelievable Made Real. Russia, Nearest Neighbor. France Knows Business. We Still Spend.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

YESTERDAY IN New York, where this was written, millions were waiting for Post and Gatty to land, after flying around the northern half of the world in nine days. Mayor Walker had ready a good speech, fine reception and elaborate luncheon. The Post-Gatty achievement will do more to stimulate flying than anything since Lindbergh's feat.

It is hard to realize what it means to fly across the Atlantic Ocean and the European continent, over Siberia, on from Asia to Alaska, and back across the American continent to New York, all in nine days. The impossible has been made real.

IN CONNECTION with the Post-Gatty flight, Gen. William Mitchell, head of our fliers during the big war, reminds you how near Russia is to us:

"After Mexico and Canada, Russia is our nearest neighbor. Behring Strait, 52 miles wide, is a bridge between Asia and America. Two islands in the middle, called the Diomedes, are about six miles apart. Our territorial waters touch each other."

Gen. Mitchell adds:

"Our next nearest neighbor is Japan. The distance from the northernmost Philippine island, called the Bashee Rocks, to Botel Tobago, off the southern end of Formosa, is only 60 miles."

Half the population of the world lives in Asia, and that makes our territorial closeness to that big continent important.

IN DIPLOMACY, disarmament conferences, etc., the British easily "put it over" the United States. Lord Balfour or MacDonald, with equal facility let us know what England wants and then get it.

But when it comes to strict BUSINESS diplomacy, France can outhit Great Britain and the United States combined.

In connection with President Hoover's moratorium, if France gets what she wants she will continue collecting from Germany, and paying the United States, and the difference in her favor will amount to enough to balance the French budget.

HOWEVER, the American worm may turn unexpectedly.

Rumors from Paris indicated that the Hoover moratorium may go through, leaving the French out. On that basis France would continue paying the United States and collecting from Germany.

Wall street, recently as nervous as a bride on the wedding morn, did not know quite what to think yesterday. United States Steel, which had sadly sagged down to 99, climbed vivaciously upward, to close at 103¼.

Wall street expects some happy solution of the moratorium problem.

BANKERS TELL you that the people draw about $120,000,000 to spend as "extra money" on the Fourth of July.

The banks are able to stand the drain, having more money than they know what to do with anyhow. And besides, during the month of June this country gathered in $153,000,000 in gold, the largest amount ever received in one month.

There is plenty of money to lend. "Call money" has been lent at the rate of 1½ per cent a year, through June.

The difficulty is to get money to start factories, and other things that use money.

BOYS JUST out of West Point are busy with anti-aircraft defense, staying on the ground, shooting at airplanes that obligingly come by towing targets. That means nothing.

Moscow says Russians are making their own airplane engines, concentrating on 300 and 450 horsepower motors, and constantly increasing their air strength.

West Point and Annapolis boys should fly up in the air and learn to fight there. Shooting on the ground won't do much good.

THE RUSSIANS in charge of aircraft designing have an interesting person named Kalinim. In Russia's civil war he was captured by White Russians, opposed to Bolsheviks, and ordered to fly one of their planes to a certain point. A "White" officer sat in the rear cockpit with a pistol at Kalinim's head to make sure that he would obey orders.

Kalinim looped the loop, dropped the passenger and gun to the ground and flew back to the Red Russian lines.

ALFREDO PARESI, who baked "Italian bread" for a living, was found in a parked automobile, shot through the chest, right side and back. He had defied a "racket" in the flour business, and is dead.

Rackets in labor unions increase. Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, says it may be necessary to call out 40,000 members of the union "to rid the industry of its gangsters." One difficulty in the clothing trade is that some employers co-operate with gangsters. A strike may be necessary to clean up the situation.

IN THE STATE of Vera Cruz, in Mexico, a fight against religious belief appears to be based on Russian methods. Superintendents of the public schools have been ordered by the State Department of Education to teach children that reducing the number of priests to only 10

U. S. to Call Coal Mining Parley

OPERATORS' OPINIONS SOUGHT

Progress Made on Labor Angle, But Solution of Market Problems Baffles

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP.)—Efforts are being made to lay a foundation for a conference of all elements interested in the coal industry.

Secretaries Doak and Lamont are sounding out the operators to ascertain their attitude toward a confernce such as suggested to President Hoover by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Doak said he hoped matters would begin shaping themselves within the next few days.

The attitude of the mineers is known, but before a conference can be called and subjects designated for discussion the ideas of operators must be obtained.

The labor end of the coal situation is being worked out, the secretary said, as rapidly as possible. During the last month or six weeks the conciliation department has settled an average of about one nine strike a day. The secretary said:

"That's getting the labor difficulties out of the way, but what can be done to stimulate the industry is uncertain."

During the last few days conciliators have settled strikes involving about 6,000 miners in West Virginia and from 3,600 to 3,800 in Western Pennsylvania.

Conciliator Dynes is now in Kentucky attempting to settle labor difficulties there. Some settlements officially have been reported. The department, however, has had no report.

3 TIE FOR LEAD IN OPEN GOLF

INVERNESS CLUB, TOLEDO, O., July 2.—Three little-known golfers were tied for the lead in the United States open golf tournament as approximately 80 of the 144 entrants posted scores for the first 18-hole round here this afternoon. Eddie Williams, Cleveland pro, was the first to match par with a 71, and Charles Guest, of Deal, N. J., and Herman Barron, of Port Chester, N. Y., later came in to share the lead with him at this figure.

Al Espinosa, of Chicago, held second place with 72, and Fred Robson, of England, and Frank Walsh were tied at 73. Tony Manero had 74 and Ed Dudley and Tommy Armour carded 75s.

Henry Cotton, one of the British threats, trailed with an 80, and Archie Compston, another British ace, was disqualified when he was one hour late in appearing at the first tee.

The temperature was 105 in the sun, and most of the players carried ice packs. Bobby Jones, who won the title last year, watched the play from the shade of a tree.

Millions Cheer World Fliers In Broadway Procession; Walker Presents Medals

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 2.—The greatest crowd in this city of many millions since the memorable Lindbergh parade today turned out to look at and cheer for Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, the two human rockets who ringed the earth in their flash of a plane in less than nine days.

In a triumphal procession up lower Broadway their automobile was hub-deep in an ocean of confetti and golden ticker-tape cascaded from the office skyscrapers.

The city roared its official and personal welcome. Harbor craft shrieked, and the millions yelled from the packed throngs on the curb to the upper windows and ledges to which office-workers precariously clung.

WALKER GIVES MEDALS

At City Hall, Mayor Jimmie Walker presented the two round-the-world fliers with gold medals. With a smile, he said:

"You men have not only exceeded the speed limit, but have made more mileage out of nine days than anyone ever heard of heretofore."

The Mayor, in a more serious interval, expressed the great national interest aroused by their epic achievement. Then he added a witticism concerning their plane "Winne Mae," asserting:

"I have an idea that over Russia and the Far North, you decided it was 'Winnie Must' and when you returned to Roosevelt Field it became 'Winnie Did'."

Responding to the tributes, Post said:

"It is beyond words for me to express my appreciation at this wonderful reception."

And that was all.

Gatty said just about as much.

Fliers Cut Graf Zeppelin Record by 14 Days

Landing at Roosevelt Field at 8:47 last night, Post and Gatty knocked the record for girdling the globe to smithereens. Their official lapsed time was 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes. The Graf Zeppelin had done it in 22 days.

'Trader Horn' Star's Wife And Child Beg Refuge

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—(INS.)—The romantic trail that led the former Belle Varden to the altar as the bride of handsome Duncan Renaldo, star of "Trader Horn," ended here today when a young woman, claiming to be the former bride, sought refuge for herself and child at the Central Y. M. C. A.

With her 5-year-old son in her arms, the girl declared she had been forced to flee the Hollywood mansion of Renaldo to escape threatened commitment to an insane asylum.

She declared she had been "persecuted" because of a $50,000 alienation suit she claims to have filed against Edwina Booth, also starred in "Trader Horn," which was filmed in Africa.

British Chide French, Act to Save Hoover Debt Plea in Parley

London Tells Paris Reservations Alter Young Plan

LONDON, July 2.—(AP.)—The British government today officially expressed its willingness to hold a meeting of representatives of the powers chiefly concerned in the Hoover was debt plan if the Franco-American negotiations in Paris prove unsuccessful.

At the same time it was learned Great Britain has advised France that the French proposal on the Hoover plan constitutes an entire alteration of the Young plan as regards the question of guarantees, and it is understood that these proposals are not acceptable to Great Britain.

SITUATION DELICATE

British officials refused to comment on reports of this latest development. It was not disguised that official circles regarded the present negotiations as being in an extremely delicate state, and so they refused to comment.

It was learned, however, that Great Britain was standing by her

7 a. m.	74	3 p. m.	92

A series of thundershowers was expected to end the city's four-day heat wave late this afternoon or tonight.

Forecaster W. S. Brotzman made this prediction as United States Weather Bureau thermometers, on top of the Oliver Building, soared into the nineties, and those on the streets below edged past 110.

The fifth death of the present hot spell—that of Frank W. Merchant, 57, assistant managing editor of the Post-Gazette—occurred shortly after noon as the storm clouds expected to bring the promised relief gathered.

HUMIDITY HIGH

Today's temperatures were below those of yesterday, when a summer's high of 96 was reached, but an oppressive humidity increased suffering throughout the Western Pennsylvania area.

At the weather offices here, the humidity at 2 p. m. was 61 per cent compared with 50 at the same time yesterday.

Temperatures last night dropped as low as 74, but the oppressive air threw a heat pall over the city that again drove hundreds to the city parks and thousands of others to porches and lawns in an onl partiall successful effort to find unbroken slumber.

At 7 a. m. today the temperature was 74. Three hours later it was 87. By 1 p. m. it had shot to 92 and promised to go even higher unless immediate rains arrived by mid-afternoon.

At 3 p. m. the thermometer had gone back to 92 after dropping to 91 as the distant thunder heralded possible approach of the cooling rains.

Four prostrations were added to the wave's casualty list yesteray and two youths, seeking re-

GIRL RESCUED FROM RIVER

Marie Gomery, 23, of 222 Isabella street, was rescued from the Allegheny River near Ninth Street Bridge today by two companions after she had fallen out of a rowboat. She was revived after an hour and taken to Allegheny General Hospital.

She was in the boat with Thomas Baily, 23, of 214 Voegtly street, and Charles Wise, 24, of Stockton street, they told police. When they dived into the water for a swim, she started to pull the craft toward shore, when she fell into the water.

Dog Plunges Over Niagara, Rescued After Swim

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 2.—(AP.)—A police dog went over Niagara Falls today, and lived to bark about it.

The dog was playing in the river bove the falls, dangerously nea rthe brink. Tourists, fearful for his safety, tied him to a tree. He broke the rope, leaped over a railing and into the river.

The current carried him down and he was swept over.

The dog, who has been named "Lucky" as a result of his adventure, landed in a pool some distance from the rocks below the cataract and swam about for half an hour before Edward Kavanaugh waded into the lower river and pulled him ashore.

The owner of Lucky has not been found.

NEW PRESENTMENT EXPECTED IN CITY INVESTIGATION

JURY TO RENEW INQUIRY INTO STOCK DEALS

Bridge Railing Contracts Also to Be Taken Up; Wider Sweep Indicated

The grand jury investigating city purchases will probably make another presentment Wednesday or Thursday of next week and bring to an end the present phase of the probe, according to indications. An adjournment was taken yesterday until Tuesday morning.

It is reported that startling information has been uncovered in bank and brokerage balances some of which are being sought by auditors outside the grand jury room. There are also repeated rumors that the search has been extended to banks in other cities.

When the grand jury reconvenes Tuesday, it is believed that a number of bankers, brokers and business men who have already testified will be recalled.

Subpenas have also been issued for J. F. and J. S. Lanahan, heads of the Fort Pitt Malleable Iron Company, who have been asked to produce a list of its stockholders. The Fort Pitt firm, together with the Independent Bridge Company, has received most of the city's bridge railing contracts.

Subordinate representatives of the two companies were heard several days ago and yesterday Percy E. Hunter, president of the Independent Bridge Company testified. The two firms are said to control the manufacture of a patented railing frequently used for both city and county projects.

C. M. Vetter, who testified before the grand jury is an employe of the Bureau of Bridges, Public Works Department and not of the County Road Department as previously published. George W. Vetter is identified with the County Road Department, but he was not called.

BANKS TO MAKE CHARGE FOR ACCOUNTS

East Liberty Institutions Join Movement Which Affects Small Depositors

Four East Liberty banks have announced that after August 1 they will make a charge of $1 a month on checking accounts of less than $100. The action follows a movement in the financial districts of many cities.

The banks which will make the charge are the City Deposit Bank and Trust Company, the East End branch of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company, the Highland National Bank and the McGillick Savings and Trust Company.

Two Wilkinsburg banks, the First National Bank of Wilkinsburg and the Wilkinsburg Bank have announced they will also go on a service charge basis after August 1. Two banks in Homewood have had a service charge for two years. They are the Homewood Peoples Bank and the Hamilton State Bank.

In the downtown district the Diamond National Bank has for some time had a charge on checking accounts under $200. Other downtown institutions are reported considering the service charge, although it is explained that some prefer to carry large numbers of small depositors in the expectation that many will grow into large accounts.

The East Liberty banks, in explaining the installation of the service charge, say the revenue from the accounts under $100 falls considerably short of paying the handling costs. The account will be debited the tenth of each month with the service charge. Accounts of charitable, fraternal, educational, religious and welfare organizations will be exempt.

TITLED ACTRESS MAY RISK BIGAMY

Lady Inverclyde Will Wed Hollywood Director Even If English Decree Fails

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 2.—(AP.)—Lady June Inverclyde, the "June" of the English stage, today proclaimed her intention of becoming the bride of Lothar Mendes, motion picture director, even at the risk of being classed as a bigamist.

The actress, who has established residence at Reno preparatory to filing suit for divorce charging extreme cruelty, said here last night the Nevada decree would not be recognized in England on those grounds. Unless Lord Inverclyde obtained an English divorce, she said, she would be liable to prosecution for bigamy if she married Mendes after the Reno divorce and then returned to England.

Lady June said her Reno case had been further complicated by the failure of her attorneys to locate Lord Inverclyde and serve him with a legal notice of her suit; and that she might have to await the process of service by publication in order to obtain a decree. She said:

"I understand Lord Inverclyde has said he will never ask for a divorce. When I obtain one, I shall wait a while before remarrying, still hopeful that he will file suit. Then, when I am certain he never will, I shall marry Mendes and renounce England."

If Lord Inverclyde obtained an English divorce it would prevent the possible filing of bigamy charges against her in case she remarried and returned to England. Mendes, a German by birth, is the former husband of Dorothy Mackaill, film actress.

original position of accepting the Hoover proposal in its entirety. This of necessity implied that any deviation from it on the part of the French or anyone else is extremely unlikely to find favor in the British eyes.

GOVERNMENT STATEMENT

"His Majesty's government earnestly hope that the discussion now taking place in Paris will be successful.

"Should no early solution be found they have expressed their willingness—in order that agreement may be reached with minimum delay—to hold a meeting of representatives of the countries chiefly concerned at an early date."

France Indicates Rejection Of Hoover's Request

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT

International News Service.

PARIS, July 2. The gloomiest of atmospheres prevailed at the Quai D'Orsay today at the conclusion of the special meeting of the council of ministers held to consider President Hoover's memorandum on French objections to his plans for a moratorium on war debts.

The manner of various ministers gave rise to the belief that the cabinet had declined to meet President Hoover's requests. One member said:

"The negotiations will be most difficult if the United States maintains the attitude expressed in the memorandum."

LAVAL NONCOMMITTAL

"The council of ministers has examined President Hoover's memorandum."

Beyond that statement he refused to go. From his attitude it was believed that the French government was prepared to hold out for its counter proposal for a moratorium even at the risk of international isolation.

International News Service was reliably informed that the Premier would not hand a written reply to the American negotiators, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and Walter E. Edge, ambassador to France, but would make it orally tonight.

It was believed in official quarters that negotiations would continue. It was indicated that further efforts would be made to convince the United States government that France should not be obligated to yield any further on the question of German reparations.

ROW ADJOURNS COMMONS

LONDON, July 2.—(AP.)—The House of Commons was adjourned by the speaker this afternoon following grave disorder provoked by Left Wing Laborites who resisted the suspension of one of their number.

The customarily staid old House of Commons was thrown into an uproar by bitter fist fights, kicking and clawing which followed the suspension order.

The offending member was J. McGovern, of Glasgow, who voiced noisy defiance when the speaker made what McGovern considered an unsatisfactory answer to his question. The Glasgow member had asked about the imprisonment of preachers who spoke on the Glasgow green.

Weather Conditions.

There is a center of disturbance off the North Carolina coast this morning, with a trough formation extending northwestward to the lake region, thence southward over Illinois to Arkansas. This pressure condition is causing considerable cloudiness over the Middle Atlantic states and westward over the Ohio Valley states to the central plains and showers and thunderstorms were quite general over this section. High pressure over the Northwest is producing northerly winds over the plains states and the Upper Mississippi Valley and a marked drop in temperature. Temperatures of 100 degrees or higher occurred yesterday over Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas, the highest temperature reported, 104 degrees, at St. Louis. Showers will prevail over this section this afternoon, tonight and Friday, which will relieve the temperature.

PRANK WRECKS OLD CANNON

KITTANNING, Pa., July 2.—Indignation ran high here over the destruction early this morning, through a premature Fourth of July celebration by four youths, of a Civil War cannon in the park, placed near the Elks' home through public subscription.

Windows in the Elks and nearby homes were shattered and the explosion could be heard over a 10-mile radius.

The four under arrest are Alfred Iseman, Fred Fox, Gales Watts and William Hogan. They admitted placing dynamite in the cannon and touching it off.

LAKE COAL RATE FIGHT RENEWED

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(INS.)—Pennsylvania and Ohio bituminous coal operators today renewed their fight to increase the differential on lake cargo shipments, when the Interstate Commerce Commission heard oral argument on the complaints of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau and the Ohio Lake Cargo Coal Rate Committee against the southern operators. The latter want the existing differential continued.

E. S. Ballard, representing the Ohio committee, argued that Commission Examiner C. M. Bardwell was in error when he found in his report to the commission recommending the differential be undisturbed, that there was no undue prejudice against the northern operators.

BOMB PERILS 12 IN AMBRIDGE

Twelve members of three families, including several small children, were shaken from their beds early today when a dynamite bomb set off in the entrance to their home, at 120 Merchant street, Ambridge, tore away a portion of the concrete steps leading to the dwelling, shattered a hallway and broke windows throughout the three-story brick building.

Two sticks of dynamite placed in the entrance of a hallway leading to a poolroom on the third floor, operated by Chris Harris, police said, caused the explosion. Damage was estimated at $500.

Part of the first floor was occupied by the families of Abe Redlick, owner of the building; Chris Harris, and Dr. Maurice Chiff, according to police. The remainder of the building was used for storage purposes and poolroom.

GARBED AS MAN, WOMAN HELD

A woman dressed in men's clothing was arrested by North Side police early today along with her husband and two other men. The four prisoners, all giving Detroit addresses, are being held as suspicious persons.

The prisoners said they were Genevieve Monarch, 19; her husband, Edward, 22; Stanley Ciupak, 18, and Harry Kopcyznski, 18. The young woman bore fresh cuts on her left wrist where, police said, an effort had been made to cut the name Ed Monarch. She was treated at the Presbyterian Hospital.

At a hearing in Morals Court today, the girl, who said her father was Sergt. Harry Finney, a Detroit policeman, and her three companions were held pending an investigation by city detectives.

Jews Seek World Loan for Palestine

BASLE, July 2.—(AP.)—A project for the raising of an international loan, with the assistance of the British government or of the League of Nations, to further Jewish colonization in Palestine, was outlined today before the Zionist Congress by Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff, editor of the Jewish Labor Union, a monthly published in Tel Aviv, Palestine.

MELLON GOING TO VILLA

CAP FERRAT, France, July 2.—(AP.)—Members of the Mellon family and guests were expected to arrive today to occupy the villa "Maryland," belonging to Arthur Wilson.

The villa, which has been leased for July and August in the name of David K. E. Bruce, son-in-law of the American secretary of the Treasury, is one of the Riviera showplaces with accommodations for 30 guests and extensive gardens. It adjoins the estate of the Duke of Connaught.

According to local newspapers, Andrew W. Mellon, the American secretary of the treasury, had been expected for dinner today, but servants received a message saying he was obliged to remain in Paris. It is suggested here that Secretary of State Stimson has planned to visit Mr. Mellon at "Maryland" before going to Paris.

Eugenia Bankhead Hopeful 6th Marriage Is Success

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 2.—(AP.)—Thirty years old and married six times, Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead-Hoyt-Butt-Lee-White says she is just an "incurable optimist" when it comes to matrimony.

She has returned here with her latest husband, Edward Ennis "Teddy" White, 34, New York broker, whom she wed a few days ago near Agua Caliente, Lower California, Mexico. Mrs. White, daughter of Representative William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, was married three times to Morton M. Hoyt. She said last night:

"I really haven't been marrying just for pastime. Until now I simply have failed to find the right man. I am more firmly convinced this time that I have found the right one. I have known Teddy for 10 years."

She said there would not be another marriage "if this one fails." White has been married before. His name at first was reported from Mexico to be Smith.

Besides the Hoyt marriages and divorces, Mrs. White's others were with, and from Lawson Butt, Jr., Nevada football star, and Howard Lee, Texas aviator.

TWO WOUNDED IN GUN BATTLE LAID TO BLACK HAND FEUD

BROTHER SAVES LEETSDALE HOTEL MAN

Relative Seizes Revolver, Beats Suspect With Own Weapon During Tussle

Two men are in Sewickley Valley Hospital today suffering from wounds which police ascribe to Black Hand activities.

Frank Villafranca, 45, hotel proprietor, of Leetsdale, was shot through the left leg, according to the police, as he struggled to gain possession of a gun with which his life was threatened. His brother, Tony, 40, they said, wrested the weapon from his assailant and beat him into unconsciousness. At the hospital, the latter is registered as Lun Whitt, 32, of 278 Thirteenth street, Ambridge.

The shooting took place, police say, when Whitt entered the Villafranca Hotel and asked for the time. As Frank reached for his watch, they say, Whitt drew a pistol. The former grabbed him and in the struggle, the authorities declare, the revolver was discharged three times, one bullet entering Villafranca's leg. Coming to his brother's aid, Tony is said to have obtained the weapon and beat Whitt on the head with it.

The authorities declare the wounded Villafranca has been shot at several times within the past year, and was struck by a bullet in the wrist within that time.

POST AND GATTY ACCLAIMED IN NEW YORK

they had made a merry-go-round out of the world we live in, astride their flashing plane, the Winnie Mae.

Around the world like a clock—15,000 miles—ticking from New York to Harbor Grace to Chester, England, Hanover, Germany, Berlin, Moscow, Siberia, Alaska, Edmonton, Cleveland and home again to New York. Over two oceans, jagged mountain ranges, arid deserts, unseen lands and untouched clouds, the cream-colored monoplane streaked to glory under the scientific whip of a one-time Oklahoma farmer for pilot and a lean Australian as navigator.

FLIERS MODEST

To hear those boys talk about their trip you'd think they had only flown across the Hudson River. Post said:

"We didn't have much trouble. It came out just as we expected.

"It was a little tough crossing the Atlantic and shooting across the Bering Sea to Nome, Alaska. On that leg we had a lot of thick weather and storms and couldn't see where we were going.

"At Khabarovsk, Siberia, we got some bad Russian oil in our motors and it fouled the sparkplugs. That held us up, otherwise we would have been here much sooner.

"How was the scenery? I didn't look. It was all just like flying over Oklahoma."

The lone blue-white plane with history written all over it streaked out of the West last evening as a pink and purple sky was beginning to turn into black night.

PLANE ENDANGERED

Wiley Post climbed out of his cockpit. Sparks from photographers' flashlights endangered the plane. Harold Gatty clambered wearily onto a wing. They both looked tired and nine days weary.

Police motorcycles charged into the crowd. Women—and men—screamed. The unbruised cheered. They had to help the two fliers to the ground, so tired were they. A flying wedge of cops formed and, preceded by the motorcycles, fought their way to the field operations office.

The young and pretty wife of Post kissed her husband. She was caught in the riot and later fainted.

Afterwards she said that all her husband had said to her was:

"Hello."

Then she added:

"But he kissed me."

She also said:

"I was afraid the crowd was going to tear my clothes off me and I told Wiley I didn't want him to go into vaudeville."

Gatty was asked:

"What was the worst part of your trip?"

He smiled and said:

"This is the very worst part."

When they got the fliers into an automobile, Gatty's clothes were torn. It was very hot, but Post was shivering and asked for a covering. Somebody gave him a coat.

There began a triumphal motor trip back to New York City. Along the road crowds were lined. They cheered. Women in the tenement districts held up their babies to see. Motorists honked their horns.

Post said:

"All I want is sleep and some more water."

FLIERS HALF DEAF

The nine-day pounding of the motors has made both fliers temporarily half deaf.

Questions had to be shouted.

Gatty was asked about the injury to his arm, received when the propeller of the plane struck him the other day. He said:

"It's nothing at all."

Gatty said that the "blind flying" through the Arctic storms was the most difficult experience of the trip. He added:

"But the Winnie Mae is in great condition despite the distance she has traveled. I think we could hop off today and do it all over again."

NO GLASS CASES FOR WINNIE MAE

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2.—(AP.)—There will be no glass cases for the Winne Mae, for C. F. Hall, sponsor of the ship's globe-girdling flight, announced today it will be flown until it falls to pieces. He declared:

"I most certainly am not going to put that plane in any museum or institute. Just as soon as it is possible the Winne Mae will be presented to the real Winne Mae, my daughter, after whom it is named.

"I promised her that we will fly out to the coast to present her with her namesake as soon as possible. It is possible the boys will want to make a tour of the country first, and of course I will let them do that if they wish."

Post-Gatty Rivals Postpone Take-Off

NEW YORK, July 2.—(INS.)—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., who will attempt to beat the Gatty-Post record for a flight around the world, today postponed their hop-off, scheduled for this morning. They were informed of unfavorable weather off Newfoundland. They may take off later this week or early next week, they said.

Refueling Plane Delays Tokio Hop

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2.—(AP.)—A delay of a day or more in starting a proposed non-stop refueling flight from here to Tokio, is in prospect for Reg L. Robbins and H. S. Jones, Texas aviators, because their refueling ship has lagged on its journey to Alaska. Robbins had planned to hop off tomorrow.

Grimy Flier Scoffs At Film Sheik Role

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP.)—Movie contracts? Wiley Post, globe flier, glanced at his grimy face, tousled hair and oil-streaked cheeks and responded:

Post and Gatty Started Flight On $34

AVIATORS LAUD WORLD FLIGHT

As aviators, both globe circlers are potential occupiers of fame's pinnacle with that hero of a nation, Charles A. Lindbergh.

Aviators acclaimed a couple of superlative fliers. Their sentiment was epitomized by William Brock, who, with Edward Schlee, attempted to circumnavigate the air over the earth four years ago. He said:

To which Col. Lindbergh, who was on the field, added:

WOMAN FLIGHT SPONSOR DEAD

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP.)—Completion of the Post-Gatty flight around the world marked the fulfilment of a woman's dream, but the woman herself did not live to see the realization of her plan.

The world flight was first suggested by Mrs. F. C. Hall, of Chickasha, Okla., for whose husband, an oil operator, Post worked. Mrs. Hall died last fall and Hall, remembering her wish, decided to sponsor the flight as a sort of memorial to his wife.

Wiley Post was a farm boy who dreamed high dreams and he fell in with the idea. Strangely enough it was an accident that gave him his first chance to be a flier. He was working in the oil fields and an industrial accident destroyed the sight of one eye. With the compensation money he bought his first plane.

Man Hangs Self At County Home

BEAVER, Pa., July 2.—The body of Paul Suzenvich, 35, Aliquippa, inmate of the Beaver County Home, was found hanging to a derrick of the pump this morning. Suzenvich had made a rope from a towel. He had been hurt in a mill accident and was committed to the home recently from a Pittsburgh hospital.

MRS. HAROLD GATTY . . . SHE WAS DELAYED IN PITTSBURGH

Wife's Kiss Wakens Gatty; Delay Here Prevents Her Seeing End of Flight

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP.)—A kiss by his wife awoke the globe-flying Harold Gatty this morning.

Mrs. Gatty, mother of four children, whom she left with neighbors in Glendale, Cal., had no time to talk with reporters when she stepped from the train. She said she must hurry and "kiss Harold."

She made the trip to the hotel in a taxicab, with a motorcycle policeman clearing the way.

Gatty's Wife Delayed Here, Fails to See Husband Land

Mrs. Vera Gatty, wife of Harold Gatty, lost her 36-hour race with time and bad weather to see her husband finish his 'round-the-world flight in New York last night. She arrived at Bettis Field a few minutes before Gatty and Wiley Post landed at Roosevelt Field, Long Island.

Told of their safe arrival, she wept. Between sobs of disappointment at not being there to greet her husband, and tears of joy at the news of the ovation he was receiving, she said:

"You can tell them I'm laughing and crying at the same time, but I left my babies to come and see him land . . ."

When she grew calmer, Mrs. Gatty chatted with fellow passengers at Bettis Field and discussed her trip. She said:

"Afraid of failure? Never! Of course I prayed for him. I don't care about the celebration. I only wanted to see him land. That's fine, we're both landed now."

Mother Applauds Post's Voice on Air

MAYSVILLE, Okla., July 2.—(AP.)—New York's welcome to Wiley Post and Harold Gatty was brought to the pilot's mother, Mrs. W. F. Post, and his brother, Arthur, by radio at the farm home of a neighbor last night. Arthur said:

"Mother was excited when she heard Wiley's voice. She couldn't keep from clapping her hands when he spoke."

Wiley's father listened in at Marlow, Arthur said, and was much pleased with the welcome.

POLICE BATTER PLANE CROWD

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2.—(AP.)—One man was in a hospital today and hundreds were nursing bruises as a result of disorder when Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed their monoplane at the end of their globe-girdling flight.

Edward Connerton, vice president and general manager of Air Services, Inc., was on the serious list at Nassau County Hospital.

Disorder that resulted in the injury of several hundred other spectators began the moment the wheels of the Winnie Mae touched earth.

Several women were knocked down. A baby was pushed from its mother's arms and was saved from being trampled to death after it had been stepped on by a number of persons.

Danish Fliers Sail For U. S. Monday

COPENHAGEN, July 2.—(INS.)—Sir Holger Hoiriis and Otto Hillig, Liberty (N. Y.) tran-Atlantic fliers, said here today that they would start their return journey to the United States Monday.

It became known today that the pilot, Hoiriis, was technically a deserter from the Danish army, not having served his time under the conscription law, and on that account almost missed his audience with King Christian, who conferred knighthood on him.

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 2.—Despondent over the failure of two banks of which he was an exetutive, Robert R. Hays, 50, prominent Washington County banker, shot and killed himself in his home in East Beau street, coroner's reports revealed today. The shooting occurred late yesterday.

Hays was president of the First Bank and Trust Company of this city which closed its doors two months ago also was identified with the Farmers National Bank of Hickory, which failed to open two days later. Hays had worked strenuously in the attempts to reorganize the banks and two weeks ago is reported to have suffered a nervous breakdown.

It is reported here that both financial institutions will pay depositors approximately 90 per cent. Friends of the banker say that he had overworked in the efforts to reorganize the banks and that he was despondent.

According to the report to the coroner, Hays went to the bedroom of his home late yesterday afternoon. A short time later a shot was heard and members of the family found him on the bedroom floor, a bullet wound near the heart. He was dead when the family physician arrived.

Heat Zone Shifting To East and South

Relief came into the Middle West today, as the summer's first heat wave moved into the east and south.

But as the Middle West breathed a sigh of relief, the East and South continued to swelter, with the center of the torrid wave moving slowly across Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Throughout Pennsylvania and West Virginia the temperatures continued to soar. Tops in Charleston, W. Va., were 106, in Wheeling, W. Va., 103. At Martinsburg, W. All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

NEW YORK, July 2.

SOME 20 YEARS ago, reports Jack Murray, Mr. Boris Tobocknekofsky and Mr. Yussel Cohen decided to leave Russia behind them. They were going to settle in America, a golden land where there was an abundance of peace, prosperity and pickled herring. Thus, when everything was arranged, you might have seen them as they swayed together on the deck of a boat that was carrying them to the glorious city of New York.

Mr. Tobocknekofsky placed a hand on his friend's shoulder and gazed up at the stars.

"Yussel," he murmured, "we are going to a new land. Maybe we will both be great successes. Maybe only you. And maybe only me. But whatever happens, I want that we should always be friends. Isn't that the way you want it?"

Mr. Cohen nodded vigorously.

"That's the way it will always be, Boris," he asserted.

It was Mr. Tobocknekofsky who got the first break. Both men settled in the lower part of New York and both went to work in a sweat shop. Mr. Tobocknekofsky seemed to grasp things a little more quickly than Mr. Cohen. And, before a year had passed, he had been made assistant foreman.

Mr. Cohen congratulated Mr. Tobnocknekofsky.

"It's wonderful, Boris," he chirped.

The other man shrugged his shoulders.

"One has to move along," he muttered modestly. And, by the way, Cohen, I've decided to change my name. From now on, you will please call me by the name of Tobocknekov."

At the end of five years Mr. Tobocknekov was the manager of the entire shop. He was earning a fine salary. Mr. Cohen was still in the same spot in which he had started. The manager could have done many things for his old pal.

One thing he did do. He was always willing to come to Cohen's house and tell how well he was getting along. He turned up one night with very big news.

"Cohen," he said, "I am moving along with the times. Beginning next week, I have accepted a new position uptown. They are going to pay me $10,000 a year. Isn't that fine?"

The other man nodded.

"It's wonderful," he returned. "You are to be congratulated, Mr. Tobocknekov. I suppose you will be moving from this part of New York now, eh?"

"Oh, sure," replied the manager. "I'll probably pick out a very fine apartment in the Bronx.

"But you needn't worry, Cohen. I will visit you often and let you know just how I am getting along."

When he reached the door, he turned.

"One thing I forgot to tell you," he murmured. "In line with the times, I've decided to change my name to Tobock."

Mr. Tobock forged rapidly ahead. He went from the Bronx to a Park avenue apartment. He got himself a wife and a regiment of butlers. He changed his name from Tobock to Tobey.

Never once, however, did he forget his old friend in the ghetto. Whenever he put across a big deal, Cohen was the first one to learn the news. Mr. Tobey would arrive in his cream-colored Rolls-Royce and climb the five flights to Cohen's flat. And there, while Mrs. Cohen and the five children looked at him in awe, Mr. Tobey would tell of his money and his success.

Mr. Cohen would nod. There were many things on his mind. His children needed shoes and clothes. Food was very expensive.

"I'm thinking of buying a beautiful home on the Hudson," Mr. Tobey would say. "You haven't any idea how gorgeous some of those places are.

"Did you see my picture in the papers the other morning? No? You should watch for those things, Cohen. It should make you proud to feel that your old friend has gone so far in the world."

"I'm very artistic, you know. Sure. All the papers say that. I can tell you right away just what a painting or a statue or a tapestry is worth. I think, maybe, I'll go in for opera next year."

His exit would always be the same. No word of a present or two for the kids. No offer of financial assistance to his old pal.

About six months ago Mr. Cohen and his family were sitting down to dinner when there was a hurried knocking at the door. Cohen opened the portal and in stepped Mr. Tobey. His hair was disheveled. His hands were shaking.

"Come in, Mr. Tobey," said Cohen. "What's the trouble?"

The other man moaned.

"Something terrible has happened. The bottom has dropped out of my stocks. I'm absolutely ruined."

"You mean," cried Cohen, "that all your money is gone?"

Mr. Tobey wrung his hands.

Cohen walked to the door and held it open. He took the other man by the arm and pushed him through.

"I'm certainly sorry to hear that," he murmured softly. "So long, Tobocknekofsky." . . . . .

Cleveland Fight Auto Route Given

Sport fans who plan to drive to Cleveland to attend the Schmeling-Stribling match tomorrow night are advised by the Pittsburgh Motor Club touring bureau to take U. S. route 30, the Lincoln highway, from Pittsburgh to Lisbon, O.; state route 45 to Salem, and state route 14 to Cleveland. The distance is approximately 135 miles. Despite a 15-mile paved detour between East Liverpool and Lisbon, this route is the best to Cleveland. Ordinarily the road mileage is only 130 miles, but the detour adds 5 miles, the bureau stated.

DESIGNER SHOWS PRESENT MODE IN PRINTED CHIFFON

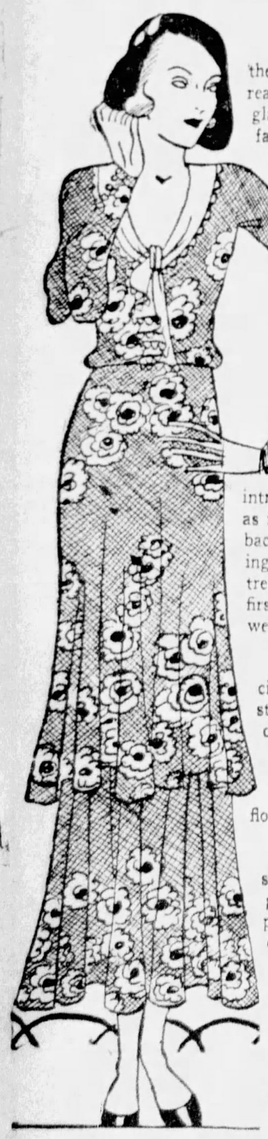
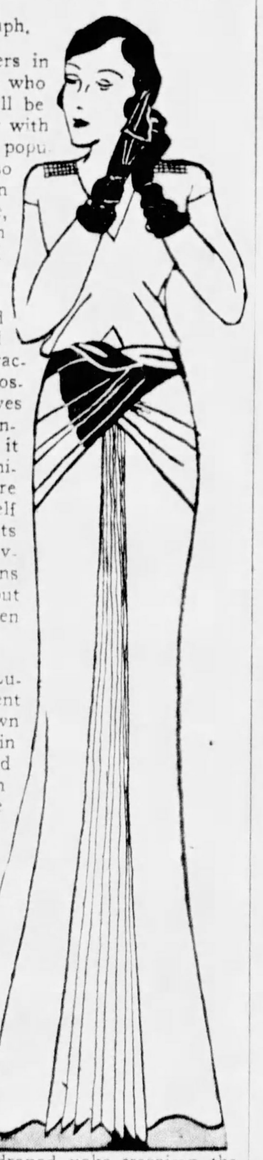
Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.





PARIS, July 2.—Chiffon again flutters in the sartorial breeze, and most likely those who really do appreciate this lovely fabric will be glad that its appeal is not universal. For with fashions in clothes, as with other trends, popularity often means decay, because it is so much used that it becomes common and is done to death. Therefore, the chiffon frocks being shown this year are more beautiful than ever, with strikingly original effects and ideas. More than ever, appliqued chiffons are being used and surely this is the most attractive form of print that can possibly be used. And it gives the chiffon frock that expensive, exclusive look that it lost during its years of universal popularity. Color contrasts are introduced, not so much in the print itself as in the contrast between the print and its background, always the best way of achieving good color effects. And so by all means treat yourself to a chiffon frock this year, but first see to it that the chiffon frock has been well treated.

* * *

THE AFTERNOON DRESS by Lucile is a splendid illustration of the present style in printed chiffon. It is of dark brown chiffon with appliques of printed chiffon in shades of rose and beige. The draped collar and jabot are of beige chiffon edged with lace. Two deep and wide flounces form the double tiered skirt.

* * *

AS PREDICTED by this bureau some time ago, white combined with green is becoming of increasing importance for formal and informal evening wear. It is a lovely combination for use where the lights shine brightest and is both youthful and smart. Bruyere makes the cocktail dress sketched for this page, of heavy white crepe de chine. Touches of vivid green crepe trim the neckline.

* * *

THE GREEN CREPE trims the neckline in the form of a draped yoke crossing the back from each shoulder and forms the piecings of the wide crush girdle. A pleated fan-like inset of white crepe is set in at the center front of the skirt and two similar insets are found in the back. This gives ease to the frock without disturbing the slender clinging line that is so important.

STRIKES COUNT, DODGES DUEL

LONDON, July 2.—(AP.)—A story that an American commercial attache boxed the ears of a Hungarian duke over a fancied insult, but refused to settle the argument on the field of honor, was related by the Daily Express today.

William A. Hodgman, attached to the legation at Budapest, recently was entertaining guests in the restaurant of the polo grounds there, dispatches said, when Duke Heinrich Borwin of Mecklenburg-Schwerin passed remarks concerning members of his party.

Hodgman was said to have retaliated with a stinging clap to the Duke's head. The Duke thereupon challenged him to a duel, but Hodgman declined to carry the incident further. He left shortly after for America on leave of absence, but the occurrence created a hubbub in diplomatic circles.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP.)—Albert B. Fall probably will be informed early next week whether he must come to Washington from El Paso to begin his prison sentence for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny.

PLANT MISHAPS SHOW DECLINE

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

WHEN YOUNG STRIBLING and Max Schmeling step on the scales in WTAM studios at Cleveland tonight to be weighed for their championship match Friday, one of the spectators will be Tom Waring, Pittsburgh composer and pianist . . . WCAE will have the ceremony at 9:30 . . . Half an hour later, Tom will play and sing on WTAM for the first time since he was signed by NBC as a staff artist. . . . His songs at 10 o'clock will be his own composition, "So Beats My Heart for You" and "Now You're in My Arms." . . . Julia Sanderson

Have we ever told you that one of the Boswell Sisters (WJAS, 9:15) is a cripple and that the two other girls support her when singing before the microphone? . . . The three are great pals . . . It has been a long time since we've heard "Giannina Mia" sung by a good soprano . . . Evelyn Herbert, who was encouraged in her studies by the late Enrico Caruso, gratifies our wish by singing the Friml number on KDKA at 9:30 . . . Irene Beasley, the "long, tall girl from Dixie," is on WJAS twice tonight . . . first in an interview at 5:45 and again at 10:45.

Question a Day:

Why do the networks buy individual stations when they can rent time over them at less cost? —Freeman Patrick, East End.

Answer—The networks use these stations as "farms" for developing talent. Also, in a few cases, stations have been bought to guarantee outlets in certain strategic centers.

Milk Man's Matinee

AFTER CONCLUDING his 11:45 broadcast for the West last night, Morton Downey was detained in New York by friends and had to catch the 3 a. m. train to Rye, where he is spending the summer. He fell asleep. Suddenly awakened when the conductor shouted a station, Downey rushed from the train, thinking that he had ridden too far. As the train chugged away he noticed he was in Harrison, one stop short of Rye. Not a taxi in sight, the silver voiced tenor frowned over the prospect of a four-mile walk home when he saw a milkwagon plodding along. The driver's offer of a lift was gladly accepted. Riding home in style at 4 in the morning, surrounded by milk bottles and behind a wheezing nag, Morton (who makes $8,000 a week on the radio) paid for his transportation with a few request songs for the driver. He was let off at his doorstep with two bottles of milk and a pint of cream —the "good Samaritan" turned out to be Downey's own milkman!

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, July 2.—Golf is on the air as never before. Just a succession of shots to the green. Open tournaments openly arrived at. Much too openly. A little inside stuff from the locker room would be more appreciated.

Wherever you turn your good ear there you hear experts of the niblick, portable transmitters strapped to their backs, chasing golfers across the meadows, trying to trump up excitement where there is none to be had.

Golf is now in a class with the boat races—the broadcast boys have to air it to make themselves representative of every form of major sport. But they pin their chief hopes on the hoofs of the hosses, on boxing, baseball and football. For the golfing wars they have dispatched several experts to the tees—the ever-present O. B. Keeler, Alex Morrison, ex-pro, and the first to bring trick shots to the stage; Tommy of the Armours, ex-Emperor Jones, the glib Husing. There will probably be more.

* * *

Most of them will concentrate upon one or two matches, one or two players. Most of them will neglect the human interest of the clubhouse. There is no excitement in a golf match for the listener. There's too much pause between shots. But there is interest in the little dramas of the locker room. We know because we heard just such a little drama last year when Sir Walter Hagen, led to the microphone, said of Jones' rout of the pros:

"The trouble is that the amateurs are playing like professionals and the professionals like amateurs."

* * *

It's a week, too, of prize-fighters past and present. Even Jim Corbett. Reliable Corbett. He faces the microphone more regularly than any man who ever donned a padded mitt. Yet, some sports boys used to say, "Wait 'n' see who Corbett picks, and then pick the other guy."

Wonder how Tunney would sound describing a championship bout. No slang, I'll bet. But lots of what the boys call $5 words.

Both major networks now have their "television girl." And how the photo mills are grinding! On the left, Natalie Towers, on the right, Dorothy Knapp. Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, and take a peek—if you can. That's the trouble, you can't get a peek 'cept in a photograph.

Even if there isn't much going on right now these July days, society folks seated on shady terraces can anticipate the events of the coming fall season.

Just as June is synonymous with brides, so fall is with debutantes. And with this prelude over I want to mention several new dates for debs.

First of all, Nancy Jane Longenecker, daughter of the Charles Longeneckers, will make her debut at a luncheon her mother will give in the Twentieth Century Club for her on Friday, November 6.

Some time ago I told you that Dr. and Mrs. Frederic T. Billings would give a tea November 28 at the Pittsburgh Golf Club to present their daughter, Lucretia, and that Mrs. Benjamin Page would give a dinner later for her niece. The date of the dinner is now set for December 5.

* * *

Travel Chatter

Doesn't it seem odd to have the hectic social merry-go-round of the "little season" stop dead when the last echoes of Lohengrin's wedding march played at June weddings faded away?

And now until the Greensburg Kennel Club dog show comes, a week from the Fourth, there'll be no large affairs. But there'll be many informal gatherings at summer homes and country clubs, and there'll be news of where folks are going for the summer months.

First of all, have you heard that the junior Myron H. Wilsons are spending their honeymoon on the Dennison ranch in Wyoming? Of course you know that Mrs. Wilson was Peggy Milligan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan, before her marriage on Saturday.

Visiting In South

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, has gone to Hot Springs, Va., for a brief vacation at the Homestead.

In New York for a few days are Mrs. H. C. Bughman of Sewickley, and her young daughter, Betty.

The Richard S. Sydams will have as their week-end guests at their summer place in Bayhead, N. J., the junior Howard Hale McClintics and the Harvey Childses, III.

The Gordon Fishers are at Provincetown for the summer and will have as their guests over the week-end the George Claypools and the George Phelps Rhodeses.

Summer Register

The summer social register for this season is just out, with its roster of society folks from all the big cities and their summer addresses and the list of their yachts. And despite the depression there is only a slight decrease in the number of families opening summer places, or going abroad.

From the big cities throughout the states, there are 1,159 families abroad compared to 1,350 last year; 7,306 as compared to 7,576 last year at inland resorts, including Canada; 6,185 as against 6,114 at the seashore.

But there has been an increase in the number of folks married. In 1930 the summer social register listed 936. This year the number of persons to marry in social realms mounts to 992.

There are more yachts listed this year than last, too; 1,362 this year as compared to 1,300 last year.

Cities whose folks are listed in the summer register are New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, San Francisco, Baltimore and Buffalo.

JUDGE ADDRESSES LEAGUE FOR PEACE

Proposed Debt Moratorium Marks Turn of U. S. Toward World Affairs, Jurist Says

The proposed war debt moratorium is the most significant thing that has happened since the United States entered the World War because it marks a definite turn of this country towards world affairs, Judge Sara Soffel said yesterday at the indoor garden party given by Mrs. Norman W. Storer, president of the local Women's International League for Peace.

Judge Soffel briefly sketched post-war conditions and the various pacts and conferences which the world has since had. Whether or not one believes in the League of Nations, the repudiation by the United States Senate of Woodrow Wilson after he had so successfully sold his idea to Europe was a great tragedy, she observed, as she went on to point out that science and economics have gone ahead internationally but politics are lagging behind. If the moratorium is a success, it will be the first step toward a rearrangement of war debts if not of their cancellation, Judge Soffel believes.

Mrs. Roger Stone spoke of the youth movement in world affairs and read several poems from the compilation, "Cease Firing." Then Mrs. Storer told of the interest she has found in seeking signers for the petitions which are being circulated in 26 countries and are to be sent to the 1932 disarmament conference.

Reads Poems

Punch and little cakes were served with the assistance of a group of young girls including Margaret Griffin, Dorothy Tinker, Blanche Bray, Eloise Howard, Ruth Brooks, Martha Anne Henderson, Dorothy Delphy Schuchman and Mrs. James Moyer. To round out the afternoon the guests visited Mrs. Storer's lovely gardens on the heights above Reynolds street.

Pennsylvanians Active In Work at Chautauqua

The country-wide influence of the Chautauqua Woman's Club at Chautauqua, N. Y., under the presidency of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, is evidenced in the presence there this week of representative women from the leading cities of the country. Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of Pensylvania's governor, and Miss Mary Louise Succop, of Pittsburgh, are taking leading parts in the program.

Of importance to women in all ranks of life is the program which Mrs. Pennybacker has formulated at Chautauqua. Although in no sense a formal and disciplined regimen the clubwoman who visits "this summer city in the woods" and becomes a member of the Woman's Club enrolls in a training school. Each day of the week, under the personal supervision of the club's president, the women participate in a series of programs lasting over a period of seven weeks, each new member receiving practical lessons in club management, organization, and in the proper social usages.

Mrs. Pennybacker puts especial emphasis on the importance of clubs' encouraging and promoting the arts in their respective communities and to this end she arranges the daily programs so that the clubwoman-in-training may have the benefit of the cultural facilities offered by Chautauqua Institution. The idea behind this, points out Mrs. Pennybacker, is to give the individual woman a thorough training for community activities so that she may return to her city equipped to take a more active part in its many social, civic and cultural enterprises.

Bigger Hats for Race Wear Offered in Paris

PARIS.—Race hats always mean great ones. Bigger and better than ever before seems to be the slogan of the French modistes who have come out with their June wares for the big season events which of course wind up with the Grand Prix.

Picture hats are more popular than for several past seasons, with extremely wide and floppy brims, transparent ones as well as opaque and with a great variety of crowns and lifted effects.

A striking race hat comes in Benzal straw trimmed with a narrow band of grosgrain ribbon which is one of the smartest trimmings this season. An intriguing Bakou combines antelope and panama.

Crowns are sometimes round and sometimes square, but at all events, as small and as close-fitting as possible.

In spite of predictions, hats continue to be worn very much off the forehead, even in the case of the largest capelines, and some of the hairdressers are talking of a revival of the widow's peak effect.

Velvet hats were bound to show up for the Grand Prix and after this important race meeting will have ostrich feathers for trimming, foretelling a new note for winter.

Indians Honor 1873 Pact With Whites

KENORA, Ont., July 2.—(AP.)—In decorated war canoes, some 800 Ojibway Indians have paddled the Kenora lakes to Treaty Island to celebrate the signing of a treaty with the white man 58 years ago. Under the treaty each chief receives $25 a year, each councillor $15 and plain tribesmen $5.

Prints in All Shades Popular This Summer

PARIS.—Every woman is getting into print(s) these days, in spite of the rumor that it was going to be a very plain summer.

For morning wear or traveling there are pretty printed crepes in all shades, with brown as the particular favorite. They have large or small patterns and a plain coat covers them. One very smart model is an orange and white crepe with alternating peplums in front and back.

A green wool with white and black speckles makes a very nice morning suit, with an overskirt stitched in place and worn with a short straight jacket.

The Marquise de Casa-Maury is wearing a plain black crepe with white butterflies appliqued in the surplice neckline and cuffs. She has a short waist-length jacket to go with it, with cape sleeves which are pleated.

For afternoon wear in town or at the beach is a black, gray and rose printed chiffon with triangular insertions of finely-printed black lace in fan shape in the skirt and reversible jacket. The sleeveless dress is slightly decollete in the back and there is a huge taffeta bow in the back which makes it very dressy.

'Dragon' Skull Gives Fright to Chinese

HARBIN, Manchuria, July 2.—(AP.)—Workmen building a brick kiln in the village of Kusiantung have been terrified by discovery of what they believed was the skull of a dragon. They feared the departed spirit might return and wreak vengeance for disturbance of its bones. Scientists determined the skull was that of an ancient mammal.

CARE IN HOLIDAY DRIVING URGED

All motorists planning to use the highways July 4 were urged today by C. H. Allen, vice chairman of the highways safety committee of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, to use added caution.

High death and injury tolls due to automobile accidents in the Pittsburgh district during recent weekends, and increasing fatalities in the state during the first half of 1931 were cited by Allen as reasons for greater care on Saturday and Sunday.

New Service Begun By Western Union

A new type of telegraph service, known as the serial day letter, has been established by the Western Union Telegraph Company, the first innovation since the establishment of the day letter in 1911. The serial day letter is suited to the use of any person having to carry on intermittent communication with another during the course of a day. The new type of telegram is filed in sections of not more than 25 words each. It is possible to increase the volume of matter transmitted at slight increase in cost.

Decision Appealed On Pinchot Pledge

HARRISBURG, July 2.—(AP.)—William S. Bailey, local attorney, today took an appeal from a recent decision of the Dauphin County Court which had held that Gov. Pinchot could not be enjoined from adding a clause to the pledge required of prospective state employes.

Bailey brought two suits on behalf of Mabel Hamilton, of Philadelphia, who said she was refused reappointment as a notary public because she would not sign the pledge.

High Court Upholds New York Tax Law

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP.)—The right of New York state to tax income earned outside its borders has been upheld by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. The decision was handed down late yesterday in a suit brought by John D. Ryan, chairman of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, who contended that being a legal resident of Montana, he could not be taxed in New York except for income earned in the state.

GOTHAM CHATTER -:- Mr. Ziegfeld's 'Follies' Hits The Gay, Big Town -:- AMUSEMENTS -:- News and Notes About Coming Attractions

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

So long as Mr. Ziegfeld's little girls have a curve to their ankles, calves and thighs, so long will any of his productions seem alive. . . . The breathlessness of a new "Follies" . . . Within another sundown the new "Follies" half-hour call before overture will have sounded . . . The dozens of sirens will be in their respective undressing rooms beading their lashes . . . Dressing their hair . . . Fingering the rouge on their lips with their pinkies . . . Pulling up a stocking or discarding a brassiere . . . Last moment signals and cue changes to the orchestra conductor . . . Stage mechanics juggling props and sets . . . A headache because a specialty has been dropped . . . New composers, authors and specialists who wish it were "tomorrow already" . . . A carload of posies banked near the stage doorman . . . And countless telegrams from kin to their daughters and sons, and of course, honeyed wordage from sweethearts—pashs—Used-to-Bes . . . Lassies in their first Ziegfeld show . . . The Road to Somewhere' . . . Wonder which of them will decorate the front pages with their follies?

Ziegfeld's first "Follies" in four years . . . How the Yesterdays fly . . . They say it may be his last "Follies" . . . Wish I had thought weeks ago of a sentimental wallop for his last act finale. . . . If I were Flo I would devote the finale to reminiscing . . . The set would be a replica of his New Amsterdam lobby . . . Where at one time hung life-sized portraits of former favorites . . . Glorified dollies and others who won renown . . . Marilyn Miller, frixample . . . Marion Davies, Dorothy Mackaill, Gilda Gray, Billie Dove, Jessie Reed, Mae Murray, et al. . . . I would bring on a pretty person, just arrived from the provinces, seeking Broadway recognition . . . She would pause before the likeness of Marilyn Miller, and say: "Wonder if I'll ever be a somebody like you?" . . . And "Marilyn" would be attired in the wardrobe she wore in "Sunny," and, while the crew in the pit struck up that tune, "Marilyn" would step out of the frame, welcome the stranger to town and wish her well . . . And so on . . . It would be a sound reason to revive the old song hits from his shows, and an appropriate touch to a farewell "Follies," which I hope this one isn't.

Because Walter Wanger's Paramount contract was abrogated for a healthy sum, the slogan over there now is: "Wanger-Go Slow!" . . . That Norman Bel Geddes guy has no respect for class places, either . . . At the Casino in the Park, the other night, for instance . . . When Jean Barry and her husband, Dave Fitzgibbon, gracefully danced, Norman unloaded some mechanical mice on the floor, hoping to distract Miss Barry, who didn't wince . . . But David picked up his trousers and fled . . . That new humor magazine, "Ballyhoo," is swelegant burlesk . . . The former editor of Life and Judge, Norman Anthony, Has Himself a Time in the opening barrage . . . You come across the strangest stories in this town of ours . . . No mag editor would believe it, I suppose, but it is so true . . . I mean the one about the shapely thing in one of the shows, whose husband is paying for their divorce, because he realizes that she doesn't Go for Him any more . . . They still dwell together, though . . . And he has vowed to "keep her," with no strings attached, until she weds again, or is able to support herself. . . . Coleridge thought what comes from the heart—goes to the heart.

Besides understanding the drama, George Jean Nathan appears to understand women . . . Before he sailed he was saying that among other things never remembered by dramatists when writing love scenes was that the more a young woman loves a man the less talkative, the more silent she is in his presence . . . Only women over 30 are chatty before the object of their affection . . . I wouldn't know about that . . . I can't get at all interested in women over 30 . . . If you wait long enough in this racket you're bound to catch your antagonists . . . That Saturday newspaper for showmen, frinstance . . . A few months ago it got terribly indignant editorially—about the tab rags and their columnists . . . It went into a lather over the "gossip" the columnists featured . . . The same sheet's current front page includes the report of Patti Harrold's divorce, Claire Ray's action for separation, Paulipe Starke's, Dorothy Lee's, Josephine Dunn's, John Steel's alimony trouble, Cliff Edwards' divorce, Anna Chandler's husband woes, and the Peter Arno bust-up—all of which was re-written from newspapers that publish news before and while it is news . . . The last laugh is worth waiting for.

Wonder what song will "get" me next? Last season this time it was "Overnight" . . . Now it is "Star Dust" . . . And "Dancing in the Dark" . . . Once I thought I'd never get "Song of the Islands" out of my head . . . I guess everybody has his own "theme" song—something to remember an incident by . . . Years later, when you hear your one-time favorites played again, something inside of you tingles . . . "Allah's Holiday" still lifts me out of a fog . . . And when Whiteman's crew toys with "Song of India." . . . Lawyers now are bombarding me with pokes over the boner on the $1.50 bonus, a witness rates when he is served with a subpena . . . You only rate 50 cents, it seems . . . So, all right, I fo-pah'd it, again . . . We all make mistakes . . . That's why, as the saying goes, we have a Reno.

There is a kick, of course, in reading a novel, or a mag piece in which you are mentioned, or the character's name is like your own. . . . So many of the tomes in the past few seasons have clowned with my racket, and it was welcome exploitation . . . But Emile Gauvreau, a good writer, but a managing editor at heart, has done a novel, due on July 9, and I can't wait to see how far a managing editor will go . . . He calls it "Hot News," and it ought to be good. . . . They tell me the name of his heroine is Wanda Winthrop—and that she is a columnist whose slang "caught on," etc. . . . Oh, yeah? . . . Fevven's sakes! What else? . . . If he ever sat down and wrote what really happened since September 15, 1924, the stage and screen versions of "Front Page" would seem sissyish. . . . That's why I liked "Front Page," and raved over it so often. . . . The reporter kept calling his managing editor a "great big baboon," which isn't what I've called them.

I'm glad the Heywood Broun show is coming along . . . It is a worthy effort to help players who need work . . . But sympathy must not interfere with good casting . . . It will all be wasted with mediocre entertainers . . . There are so many worth-whiles out of work, too . . . It mustn't be a flop, so wags like J. Cannon can say: "It faw down and go Broun!" . . . Leave it to Time, the mag, to call her: "Five Starr Faithfull." . . . You get a hearty laugh reading legends about yourself . . . The one about a night club impresario putting me out of his place because I wasn't in eve'g clothes . . . Yeh, yeh! . . . I've never put on my bib and tucker for a night club, yet, and I never was ejected from one for any reason . . . The only place I was put out of was a public school—but not because I wasn't dressed correctly, but because I was such a dunce. . . . I could get rich in a hurry betting a lot of people that they are wrong.

Race, Styles In Hearst Reel

THE GLOBE TROTTER

The first autogiro flight ever made over Niagara Falls is shown in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News and thrillingly described by the Globe Trotter, who accompanied the autogiro in another plane on its dangerous journey. The flying windmill takes desperate chances, skimming the whirling rapids and actually invading the gorge to within a few feet of the mighty cataract itself.

From Paris come pictures of the Steeplechase de Paris, which turf classic opens "Grand Week" at Auteuil. The Steeplechase de Paris is important because it gives the first glimpse of the new fashions as displayed by mannequins at the track. The Globe Trotter describes some of them and tells the feminine listeners among other interesting information that ostrich features are coming back into style.

Mrs. Harold Gatty gives the Globe Trotter an interesting interview at her home in Los Angeles.

HOLLAND'S QUEEN

Uncle Sam's anti-aircraft guns at Fort Sheridan, Ill., give a remarkable display of night firing in an exhibition of the latest artillery defense against sky raiders.

An unusual picture shows the natives of Genzano, near Rome, Italy, paving an entire street with gorgeous flowers. The laying of this floral carpet is the feature of a religious custom that has been followed for many centuries.

JEFFRIES IN LIMELIGHT

Jim Jeffries, once the champion pugilist of the world, comes into the limelight once again by inviting cameramen to make a picture of a rodeo at his great ranch at Burbank, Cal. There is some thrilling riding by daring cowboys.

Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, chairman of New York's Milk Fund, receives a remarkable tribute from the city at a municipal celebration held in honor of the tenth anniversary of this splendid charity, which has done so much to save the lives of children in New York. Mayor Walker, in complimenting Mrs. Hearst, links her name with that of the late Nathan Straus as being among the greatest benefactors of mankind. Mrs. Hearst expresses her thanks to the Mayor and to the hundreds of children who were present, for their gratitude.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

We're sore at KDKA. Tother night that important station announced that Fay Templeton would be on the air at 10:15. We tuned in at that time. And heard Brother Bull and his Boilershop Boys. Brother Bull and his boys are all right—but not when one wants to hear Fay Templeton. When Brother Bull got through we were permitted to hear the latter part of Miss Templeton's program. We again heard "Mary Is a Grand Old Name" and "I Wonder," which she sang in her first broadcast last Saturday. Miss Templeton, resident of Pittsburgh for many years after she retired from the stage at the time of her marriage, is a lady we can be proud of. The gay comedienne of light opera and extravaganza of a former day still has power to charm in her rich sweet voice. This fact, coupled with the fascination that is associated with her very name, makes her a unique figure in the entertainment field. She should be as popular on the air as she was on the stage.

* * *

Small Timer, after singing an encore verse, says both his underwear and socks are "athletic." The buttons jump off the former and threads "run" in the footwear.

* * *

Maurice Chevalier, whose latest photoplay is "The Smiling Lieutenant," will be a July and August visitor in his homeland, that dear France, whence he plans to return in September. It would be tough if they wouldn't let Maurice in on the grounds that he may have been contaminated by Tex Guinan, for whom he predicted a big welcome in Paris when she was on her way.

* * *

Small Timer says no depression can ever bother him because he has been pushed for money all his life—pushed but never stumbled upon any.

* * *

Tala Birell is the name of a newly arrived German-Polish movie actress, now on her way to Hollywood. Tala Nuther may be next.

* * *

Small Timer skips off the stage with the remark that the reason opportunity knocks some people down is that they don't get out of the way.

Notes About Theater Bills

Among the names that adorn the cast of "A Free Soul," Norma Shearer's latest picture, which opens tomorrow in the Penn, is that of Lucy Beaumont, who plays the part of the grandmother. Miss Beaumont was long a celebrated stage actress. Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable and Leslie Howard are others in the cast.

"Broad Minded," starring Joe E. Brown, opens in the Stanley Friday. On the stage Dick Powell offers "Queens of Rhythm."

SATIRE ABOUT MOVIES

Mitzi Green, Louise Fazenda, Jackie Searl and Edna May Oliver are the featured players in the satire on Hollywood, "Forbidden Adventure," adapted from Sinclair Lewis' novel, "Let's Play King," which opens a week's run in the Fulton and Sheridan Square theaters tomorrow.

"Men of the Sky," an air romance, with Irene Delroy and Jack Whiting, comes to the Harris Saturday. An added feature will be "In Old Cheyenne," with Rex Leese.

Victor McLaglen and Jeannette MacDonald appear together in "Annabelle's Affairs," which will open in the Warner Sunday midnight. The film is from a New York stage play, "Good Gracious Annabelle!"

SHOWBOAT DRAMA

Clive Brook's Family Assists Him in Studying Lines For Pictures

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.

HOLLYWOOD, July 2.

"Memorizing dialogue for motion pictures is much more difficult than for the stage," he said. "On the stage you learn the action at the same time, and associate the movements with certain words and sentences. In pictures, you don't know the business until you arrive on the set."

Clive Brook

For this reason, Marjorie Rambeau learns most of her part on the set. But her memory is so rapid that she causes no delays.

John Wray does all his memorizing in bed before going to sleep. Then he puts the script under his pillow.

"An old stage superstition," he explains. "I believe the first record of this was in the ancient Greek theater where the players, despite the fact that most of them could not read, put the scripts under their beds at night."

Another Hollywood player, Willard Robertson, has an odd method. Lines which are to be spoken standing up he learns on his feet; those to be delivered from a chair, he studies seated; lines for a sick scene he practices in bed.

In normal times, several hundred actors are busy nightly, practicing various memory tricks. What chance has Hollywood for a night life?

SITUATION DESPERATE

The depression is so bad, says Charles Murray, that they're going to remove the hill from in front of the poorhouse.

LATEST GOSSIP

Universal is to give a percentage of the profits of "The Spirit of Notre Dame" to Mrs. Knute Rockne . . . Pauline Frederick replaces Marjorie Rambeau as Joan Crawford's picture mother—They're both ex-wives of Willard Mack, who works on the lot . . . Lily Damita is going on a two-month visit to Europe. She will stay with her mother in Paris. . . . The exclusively red and white color scheme in Lilyan Tashman's new beach house is puzzling friends who wish to buy gifts. Ilka Chase solved it by red-and-white glass salad knives. Didn't know there were such . . . The scheduled arrival of Lawrence Tibbett today has M. G. M. all adither. They have Bess Meredyth and C. Gardner Sullivan (both movie veterans, you'll note) preparing him a story with a Cuban background.

Pauline Frederick

ANOTHER COMEBACK

The comedy role that Stuart Erwin sniffed at in "Consolation Marriage" is being gratefully accepted by Raymond McKee, who hasn't made a picture of importance since longer than he cares to remember. In the meanwhile, however, he has enjoyed considerable success as a restaurant proprietor, has written lyrics, entertained on the radio and proved himself generally versatile. Irene Dunne is to star in "Consolation Marriage" with Pat (Front Page) O'Brien playing opposite.

'Wild West' Coming Here

"The 101 Ranch Real Wild West" show will be seen on the circus grounds at Penn and Fifth avenues tomorrow and Saturday. Tomorrow morning there will be a parade over the principal streets in East End.

The show's outstanding features include "Reckless" Billy Keene, champion trick rider of the world, and Claire Belcher, champion lady "bulldogger" of the land.

Cowboys and cowgirls, many of them from Mexico and the Argentine, and many of the foremost rodeo and contest stars in the land will be seen in action. There will be new Indian displays.

There are hundreds of animals with the show this season and scores of these are ring horses, ponies and bronchos. The bucking horse lines back of the long padroom tent will be filled with outlaws, including "Squaw," one of the most celebrated "bucking" horses in all the West.

Girl Rider

Man Questioned In Girl's Slaying

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—(INS.)—Jack Farrell was being questioned today by police in the kidnaping and murder in San Diego of Virginia Brooks, 10, who vanished February 11, on her way to school and whose body was found, March 10.

Farrell's green auto was said to resemble the car used by the murderer.

Excursion rates to Atlantic City and Washington eastward and to all points west of Pittsburgh, prevail in the preparations of the Pennsylvania Railroad for heavy holiday travel. It is estimated 2,000 Pittsburghers will spend July 4 in Atlantic City.

Starting July 30 the Northern Pacific Railway Company will carry a trainload of golfers from all parts of the country on a tour of the Pacific Northwest and Canada, it was announced through W. H. Millard, general agent at Pittsburgh. The tour is to be conducted by the "American Golfer" at the suggestion of Grantland Rice, sports writer. It is expected several Pittsburgh golfers will be included in the party.

Court Will Permit Boy Keep on Growing

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—(AP.)—As far as Superior Judge Lester W. Roth is concerned Adolph Roome, Jr., 14, who is more than 6 feet tall and weighs 225 pounds, can keep right on growing.

The court refused yesterday to take further action in a custody contest between the youth's parents arising from the boy's abnormal growth.

At a previous hearing, the boy was ordered to submit to medical treatments prescribed by his father, a physician, so the growth might be stopped. The boy refused to submit to the treatments and the mother said she was neutral.

DISCUSS BONUS OF BETHLEHEM

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP.)—Stockholders of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation are scheduled to hold a meeting late today at Newark, N. J., when they will give further consideration to the corporation's bonus system.

Unofficial reports in Wall street were that a new bonus plan satisfactory to minority stockholders had been arranged and would be submitted at the meeting. Eugene G. Grace, president, declined to comment.

The minority group brought suit last January for the refunding to shareholders of any part determined excessive of the $36,000,000 distributed as bonuses to high officials of the company.

POPE DEMANDS PROOFS OF DUCE

VATICAN CITY, July 2.—(AP.)—The reopening of Catholic clubs closed throughout Italy by Premier Mussolini and proofs of alleged anti-Fascist activities were asked by the Vatican in a note delivered to the Italian government yesterday.

The communication insisted this must be done before the Vatican would be willing to place the controversy in the hands of a diplomatic commission for "interpretation" of article 43 of the Concordat, which authorized the Catholic action organization and its subsidiaries.

EDUCATOR GIVES BOOK WARNING

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—(AP.)—The National Education Association convention was told here yesterday that the greatest danger of 10,000,000 abnormal and subnormal children is "vulgar and indecent books and periodicals."

Edwin C. Broome, Philadelphia educator, made the statement in discussing means by which school principals can make effective recommendations to the White House conference on child welfare. He said:

"No measures, except the elimination of the traffic in indecent publications, will prevail. The control of this vice, like the control of dope peddling, is a responsibility upon police and the courts and should be courageously met."

Broome said no intelligent citizen will condemn motion pictures, the radio or dancing in a wholesale way as demoralizing. Many motion pictures, he said, are artistic and morally above reproach, but the cheap, vulgar, violent and risque features are bad for all ages, especially the formative child.

Man! Oh, Man! How the Cooling Breezes Blow Through These

Linen Suits $15 to $25

(Clipped from the Sun-Telegraph, Saturday, June 27.)

IN ALL BIG CITIES there is starting "lighter summer clothes for men" movements. The average man goes about in hot weather boiling, with four thicknesses of wool and cotton keeping in the heat—coat, waistcoat, shirt, undershirt.

Men would live longer, more happily and more usefully, if they would let the air reach their bodies.

WOMEN'S CLOTHING, thin, loose and scanty, lets the pores breathe, and a cancer expert says that, in consequence, cancer of the skin has become rarer among women.

Men keep close to their bodies the poisons eliminated in perspiration, and thus poison themselves. "Everything light, loose, porous" should be man's dress motto in summer, and stores should encourage it, with great bargains in cotton, linen and silk summer wear.

Light in weight and finely tailored, these suits are the utmost in cool, comfortable wear for men. And they come in the same styles as your business clothes—two and three-piece suits, in either single or double-breasted models.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FAVORS RAIL RATE BOOST

DUNN DECLARES BIG SHIPPERS APPROVE

Trade Body Reserves Right To Protest Unjust Scale Here; Act Follows Study

The request by the railroads for a 15 per cent increase in railroad rates was given unanimous indorsement by the Chamber of Commerce's board of directors last night. The Chamber today is sending to the Interstate Commerce Commission a copy of the resolution, which will be introduced at a hearing on the subject July 15.

The action of the chamber had the approval, President Thomas A. Dunn said, in the big shippers of the Pittsburgh district.

The action to aid the railroads was the chamber's fourth in 18 years. In 1913 it voted to grant a 5 per cent increase; in 1917 15 per cent and in 1920 a 25 per cent jump.

The chamber's resolution declares that the application of the railroads is supported by the chamber "without waiving the right to protest any adjustment that is adverse to the Pitsburgh districts in comparison with other districts or other communities."

The action was based on the findings of its general traffic committee, made up of traffic experts and shippers, which made a study into the necessity of the increased rates and held a public hearing on the question in the chamber last Thursday.

FOSTER SEEKS OFFICE AGAIN

Recorder of Deeds Samuel D. Foster, completing his first four-year term in that office, has announced his candidacy to succeed himself. He had been frequently mentioned in political gossip as a potential candidate for county commissioner as Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong's running mate. Foster's statement was as follows:

The office of the recorder of deeds is primarily and fundamentally an office for service to citizens and corporations having business with it. Fees paid to the office for the recording of all papers are in payment for service rendered and the office must provide and pay all the clerical expenses incidental to rendering this service to the people.

"Four years ago, when I was a candidate for this office, I promised the citizens of Allegheny County to conduct the office on a strictly business basis, and to bring it to as high a point of efficiency as I could. It is my pleasure to report that all papers coming into the office are now recorded and returned within 10 days. Favorable comment from the many attorneys, trust companies and individuals leads me to believe I have succeeded in giving a courteous and prompt service.

"Due to the approval of the people who do business with the office as to the methods and treatment received, I feel justified in submitting my candidacy for re-election.

"If elected, I again promise to conduct the office in the same businesslike way and to give every person having dealings with the office the utmost courtesy and fair treatment.

"I will appreciate the support of every citizen of every part of the county."

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 2.—(AP.)—The state, in the blackmail trial of Prosecutor Ray Thomas, endeavored today by cross-examination to break down testimony of John T. Harrington, president of the former Pennsylvania-Ohio Power and Light Company, in which he refuted statements of Harry Engle, one of the most important witnesses against the defense.

Harrington denied that he and R. P. Stevens, former Pennsylvania-Ohio chairman, had entered a contract with Engle to give him secret remuneration for services while he was street railway commissioner. Engle is alleged to have blackmailed the officials of the utility in order to collect under the contract, and it is with regard to this that Thomas wrote an alleged blackmail letter to the City Council.

Harrington, on direct examination by the defense yesterday, flatly denied that he had paid Engle a total of $47,000 from 1923 to 1927 as Engle charged at the beginning of the trial. Engle became railway commissioner in the former year and was ousted from that position last February when Thomas wrote the letter.

Harrington admitted that the Mahoning and Shenango Railway and Light Company, predecessor of the Pennsylvania-Ohio, had paid Engle $10,000 to get the company a city steam heating franchise.

JUDGE ENJOINS BEAUTY WORKER

Intricacies of the hair-dressing business were discussed at a hearing yesterday before Judge James H. Gray. At the conclusion the judge granted a preliminary injunction restraining Mrs. Rose Williams, expert beautician, from engaging in the business in McKeesport, and particularly at 416 Ringold street, McKeesport. The Ritz Beauty Shop at the Ringold street address, is conducted by Sylvia Williams, 17, daughter of Mrs. Williams. Sylvia, it was testified, is a third-year pupil in McKeesport High School. Her shop will remain open.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Rose Reno, on behalf of the Rose Beauty Shop, 411 Ringold street, operated by Mrs. Reno's daughter, Julia, 17.

According to testimony, Mrs. Reno bought the Rose shop from Mrs. Williams, last September, with the stipulation that Mrs. Williams was not to engage in the business within three miles of McKeesport for a period of two years. Several girls testified Mrs. Williams had dressed their hair in the Ritz parlors, opened last May.

P. S. C. PERMIT HEARINGS POSTPONED

Witnesses Routed by Heat; Finance Details, Strike Charges Aired at Session

With the Public Service Commission hearing of the Peoples Royal Blue Taxicab Company continued indefinitely, prospects of a new taxicab company in Pittsburgh in the immediate future are dim.

After calling a number of witnesses yesterday Attorney J. I. Simon, counsel for the company, advised Commissioner Samuel Walker that many of his witnesses had left the hearing because they could not stand the heat. Commissioner Walker said that he was anxious to dispose of the case yesterday, but continued it indefinitely.

$500,000 AVAILABLE

U. J. L. Peoples, president of the Peoples Company, testified that certain persons stand ready to invest $500,000 in his company. He said that he, personally, is ready to put up $100,000, that Dr. F. C. Blessing will invest another $100,000, and that the General Motors Company will advance half of the $300,000 remainder necessary.

Both Peoples and George Wortman, general manager of the company, denied on the witness stand that they have been instrumental in fomenting the present taxicab strike.

HOUSTON REPEATS CHARGE

Asked on the stand if the new company would recognize the taxicab drivers union Wortman said:

"We will satisfy the union. We will pay 40 per cent."

P. L. Houston, president of the Yellow and Green Cab Companies, on the witness stand reiterated his charge that the Peoples Taxicab Company is responsible for the present taxicab strike. He denied that he had bribed Fred Schaeffer, business agent of the union, but said that he believes that Schaeffer made a confession that involved the Peoples Company because he was afraid that he was to be prosecuted for criminal conspiracy.

Two more applicants for taxicab certificates are to be heard by the Public Service Commission this month. The applicants are the Hiland Taxicab Company and the Bell Cab Company. The Parmelee Company is opposing both applications.

Strike Goes On By Vote of Men

The taxicab strike is still on 100 per cent, according to spokesmen for the taxicab drivers.

After sweltering in Moose Temple for two hours and a half last night, the drivers, 642 of them according to J. J. Ely, official spokesman, voted to stay on strike.

A standing vote was taken, Ely said, and it was unanimous to continue the strike.

Gardner Sets High Record In Handling Court Cases

A record in disposing of the ordinary business of Common Pleas Court was achieved during June by Judge Samuel H. Gardner, presiding for the first time in the assignment room of the court.

He handled 1,008 cases, including 727 motions and orders, 242 divorces and 39 hearings, in addition to presiding in the selection of juries. This constituted an increase by one-third of the business of June, 1930, when 768 cases, comprising 577 motions and orders, 171 divorces and 20 hearings were handled.

The total has been exceeded on but a few occasions when extraordinary conditions, particularly apointments of large numbers of overseers, prevailed.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 2.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

America is a land of opportunity and don't ever forget it. Out here in Los Angeles, (where our local papers say people are dying from heat by the thousands in the East — here we are just dying but for no particular reason at all) well, there was elected to a very high office (president of the Educational Association) just a plain, pleasant-looking fat (and enjoying it) common sense woman. She is head of the rural schools in Maine and when you are rural in Maine you are rural. Now she is head of all the teachers in our land. I guess from her name that she is an old maid, but darn it, I just liked her looks. And I believe she could teach these young modern heathens of ours some sense.

Yours, WILL.

France Keeps Helping Foot for Other Nations

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Mr. Mellon shouldn't be discouraged about international relations.

And they're chewing plenty of political beef over in Paris. When it comes to other nations France is always willing to stick out the helping foot.

Stew hot for diplomatic talk anyway. Post and Gatty pulled the greatest air stunt in history. But Lindy can top it by flying across the Pacific without a sandwich.

Optimistic weather bureau promised us a heat wave that will turn a telephone conversation into hot water.

But it isn't so bad at the seashore where the girls are wearing bathing costumes that look like the straps on an old Saratoga trunk.

There's only one way to keep cool. Fan yourself until you collapse. They say the Stribling-Schmeling fight in Cleveland will be even better than Corny Vanderbilt and Peter Arno.

That threatened Wall street boom is acting spotty. Yesterday it ran second in a turtle derby. The boys who sold apples last winter are in a tough spot. You can't feel any sympathy for a man with an armful of watermelons.

GARBAGE PLANT FREE TO CITY PROPOSED

Firm Makes Offer to Give Incinerator If Granted Contract for 10 Years

A proposition by which the city would be presented free of charge an incinerator plant after 10 years' use was being considered by Dr. Charles B. Maits, director of the Department of Health, today, following outline of the plan yesterday to Council.

Representatives of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company, Neville Island, asked that for 1932 the garbage and rubbish removal contracts be specified for only one year instead of the usual one, three or five-year terms.

Bids on the 1932 contract will be opened by Dr. Maits next Tuesday. Meanwhile he will consider the steel company's proposal.

If the new plan is acceptable to him, it was said the present bids would be eliminated and quotations asked on only a one-year basis.

J. E. Jackson, sales manager for the company, told Council his organization, if awarded a long-term contract, would collect the garbage throughout the city, place it on barges and destroy it in an incinerator on Neville Island. He said:

"A 10-year contract—or possibly one for a shorter term—would enable us to make a profit on our investment. We would be willing—at the end of the contract—to turn over the plant to the city, letting it collect and destroy, refuse as it saw fit."

Council referred the matter to the Health Department for further consideration and a report.

MINER SHOCKED TO DEATH

Attaches of the coroner's office today were investigating the death of Herbert Drumley, 40, of Springdale, who was shocked to death early today when he came in contact with a charged wire at the Harmarville mine of the Consumers Coal Company. Two versions of the accident were reported to the morgue.

The report from the mine indicated that Drumley had attempted to replace the wire which had been knocked from its supports. Dr. C. E. Piper, of Oakmont, who attended the man, declared that the wire was already replaced when Drumley touched it.

Quinine King Leaves $18,000,000 Estate

Greensburg Jail Break Leads to Ban on Music

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 2.—No more prisoners in the Westmoreland County Jail will saw their way to freedom aided by the noise of a radio or the wheezing of the jail organ.

Following the break staged in May by Louis Zemler, of Pittsburgh, and Troy Golden, of Morgantown, W. Va., Warden James M. Keating has had the radio removed and has silenced the organ.

Golden, captured and brought back from Pittsburgh, admitted that he and Zemler sawed the bars while the radio and organ were in operation.

BROKER FIGHTS JAIL SENTENCE

Alfred Damus, commission broker, of 5427 Beacon street, sentenced to serve two and a half years in jail for embezzlement by consignment, was allowed an appeal to the Superior Court yesterday. Judge J. B. Drew fixed bail at $10,000.

Damus was sentenced Monday by Visiting Judge D. W. Henderson, of Fayette County, who stipulated a parole upon making restitution of $10,116 to the San Ontario Orchard Company. It was claimed he sold 19 cars of grapes and had failed to turn over the money. The appeal acts as a stay of judgment.

Pittsburgh Firm Wins Tax Appeal

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP.)—The Leetonia Furnace Company, of Pittsburgh, has been relieved by the Board of Tax Appeals of liability for payment of $138,697 in income tax.

Reversing the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the board held the company was not liable for payment of tax on transfer of assets of the McKeefrey Iron Company, no longer in existence.

BOY, 20, SHOT IN HAND

Appealing for help to Frank Wentzel, a Pittsburgh Railways Company inspector at Forbes and Moultrie streets, early today, James Brown, 20, of 2503 Fifth avenue, was removed by Wentzel to the Mercy Hospital, where it was learned that he had suffered a bullet wound in the right hand. After being treated at the hospital Brown was arrested.

According to Wentzel, Brown told him that he was cleaning a gun for a stranger whom he had met in Fifth avenue, when the gun was accidentally discharged. Police are investigating.

FIELD CLUB BOY STABBED

Stabbed in the right side with an ice pick, Charles Stianoff, 24, a Negro, of rear 828 North Lincoln avenue, North Side, is in a critical condition in the Allegheny General Hospital.

Police are holding his wife, Sarah, 24, in connection with the stabbing. They said she told them that she and her husband had been drinking and that he struck her, after which she wielded the ice pick.

At the hospital it was said the left lung had been punctured. Stianoff, police said, is a locker boy at the Pittsburgh Field Club.

Ohio Mayor Cleared In Attack on Reds

AKRON, O., July 2.—(AP.)—Mayor Seney A. Decker, of Barberton, whose police are accused with having clubbed and gassed participants in street fighting Friday night when a Communist meeting was broken up, had a vote of confidence today from the Barberton Chamber of Commerce.

In a resolution, the chamber said, its opinion is that Mayor Decker gave no authority for an attack on anyone Friday night.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the First Presbyterian Church. Muskogee and Oklahoma as a whole today prepared to pay tribute to the memory of the woman, whose one term service in Congress was far outweighed by her beneficences in private life.

City Refuses to Purchase Dumping Ground

An offer to sell property to the city as a municipal dump has been spurned by Council.

A delegation of nearly 100 residents of the Pennock street and Sewickley road sections appeared yesterday before Council's committee on hearings and protested the plan of C. A. Pearson to sell to the city a plot of 6.8 acres.

After hearing the protests President John S. Herron said Council was not interested in the plan "because the rights of the people must be upheld at all times."

Residents charged the dump would contitute a nuisance in a residential section. Herron pointed out that the city expediencd similar trouble in the past with dumps bought for that particular purpose.

Pearson said his plan included a provision that if the city was dissatisfied or that any complaints were received within two years, that he would buy the property back. The site is bounded by Pennock street and the Sewickley and Brandon roads.

ROOSEVELT DUE TO SPEAK AT NEGRO MEET

Porto Rico Governor Awaited At Bettis Field; Talks Are Given at Conference

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., governor of Porto Rico, is scheduled to arrive at Bettis Field at 5 p. m. today from Washington, to be a speaker at tonight's session of the twenty-second annual conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in session at the Ebenezer Baptist Church, Center avenue.

Last night's session was featured by addresses by Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois, noted leader among Negroes, and Mrs. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, head of the Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N. C. A message was read from Gov. Gifford Pinchot expressing his regret at not being able to attend the convention, and pledging the association his support.

PROPOSES TRAINED STAFF

Dr. DuBois proposed a trained "economic general staff" for Negroes which would help them to organize their buying power to help in their own advancement as a race. This staff, to be trained by schools and universities, would not only teach the masses of colored people to buy co-operatively, Dr. DuBois said, but might work out a plan of economic independence for them. He continued:

"The people who can buy, build and maintain church edifices to the value of $60,000,000 could do the same thing with regard to homes and tenements, if they were organized to do it."

WOMEN SEEK OPPORTUNITY

That Negro women in America ask not charity, but an equal opportunity with all others for education and careers, was the statement by Mrs. Brown. She said:

"The Negro woman asks respect for her judgment and intelligence."

She scored the practice of southern newspapers in denying to Negro women the titles of "Miss" and "Mrs."

The conference will continue through Sunday, with headquarters in the Center Avenue Y. M. C. A.

Delegates to the convention will be entertained at a cabaret show in the Pythian Hall, Center avenue, tomorrow evening. The performance will be under the direction of Carl Heinrich. Mrs. Robert Meredith is chairman of the decorating committee.

'Worst Fisherman' To Try Again and Report to Hoover

He is Will Morrison, of Chicago, who wrote a sad story to a newspaper complaining that he couldn't catch a fish. Publication of his tale was followed by 60 letters from other fishermen suggesting spots where trout would bite.

Three fishing equipment concerns felt sorry for him and donated supplies, intimating the fault was with his weapons. Hence, Morrison leaves today for Blind River, Ont., to see what he can do. He planned to come back by way of Wisconsin and to write the President if he can find a place where fishing is good.

CHIEF OUTLINES DRY LAW NEEDS

UNIVERSITY, Va., July 2.—(AP.)—Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, addressing the Institute of Public Affairs today, emphasized the importance of moral forces in law enforcement and the need for loyal, efficient investigators in gathering evidence.

Col. Woodcock said he saw no reason for any sweeping changes in federal procedure, except that the law and practice in removal cases needs clarification.

Recognizing, he said, that fear of punishment is an important factor in law observance, he declared his belief that "the moral forces are by far the more important and powerful." There are no limits, he said, to what may be done by education.

There's no bite to parch out of CAMELS

WE WOULD never think of using heat to the extent of parching the delightful flavor and aroma out of the choice Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos we use in blending Camels.

On the contrary we do everything to preserve the original mildness and flavor of our choice tobaccos. And then we wrap Camels in moisture-proof Cellophane, making each package a humidor which keeps the cigarettes always in factory-fresh condition.

After you have discovered how mild and cool they are to the throat; after you have learned how rich and flavorful a truly fresh cigarette can be; then go back to your old brand — if you can.

● Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one

Bring a cup of milk or cream to the boiling point and pour slowly on the egg mixture; add 2 tablespoons of butter and pour over the potato mixture. Cool and serve on lettuce with a boiled salad dressing, if you think the salad ought to have it. I have used a French dressing very successfully on it, though I confess I like the vinegar dress-

FRENCH OMELET WITH CHEESE SAUCE—Beat 6 eggs slightly, add 6 tablespoons hot water, and season with ¾ teaspoons salt and a few grains pepper. Heat 1 tablespoon butter in a very hot pan. Pour in the eggs, and during the cooking lift constantly with a fork to let the uncooked part run underneath. The moment the eggs are evenly cooked fold them over and turn onto a hot plate.

Serve immediately with this cheese sauce: Melt ¼ cup butter in a saucepan; remove from the heat and stir in ¼ cup of flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Add 2 cups milk gradually, and cook until the sauce boils, stirring constantly. After one to two minutes of cooking remove from the heat and stir in ¼ cup grated cheese.

ROLLED SANDWICHES—Remove crusts from loaf of bread. Cut in thin lengthwise slices, spreading with butter before cutting. (1) Roll bread around filling and fasten with toothpick or pepper ring, or (2) spread filling on the long thin slices and roll up like jelly roll. Let stand, wrapped in damp cloth in the electrical refrigerator for some time before serving. Each loaf sandwich makes 6 rolls. Each roll cuts into 8 thin slices. Parsley may be used as a garnish.

For a sandwich spread filling, put equal amounts of finely chopped chicken or duck and ground crisp carrots moistened with salad dressing, seasoned with tomato catsup and a table sauce.

Broccoli Becoming Popular In United States

Its Easy Preparation and Pleasant Taste Are Two Reasons for This Vegetable Becoming Widely Liked

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City, United States Senator From New York.

Within recent years another vegetable has been introduced to the American diet. This is known as "broccoli." It is comparatively new in this country, but has been a favorite vegetable in Italy and Spain for many generations.

Most people believe broccoli to be a new vegetable. It is new only in our use of it. It is known to have been used as far back as the third century A. D.

Broccoli belongs to the cabbage family. It closely resembles cauliflower. It has a high water content, but is of particular value because of its ash and vitamin content. It is of added value to the diet because of its bulk and pleasing taste.

It is always advisable to include vegetables in the daily diet. Due to lack of variety, this often proves to be a difficult problem. Further, many vegetables, though highly nutritious, are not tempting to the taste. Because of the flavor and other good qualities, broccoli proves most advantageous.

This vegetable is simple to prepare. It should be washed thoroughly and then placed in salt water. It is then boiled for 20 to 30 minutes, until soft. As a rule, it is best served with butter, but some prefer it with hollandaise or mayonnaise dressing.

Due to its bulky content, it is of particular value in the diet of persons suffering from constipation. All vegetables are of utmost importance in the treatment of constipation.

Since it is usually served with butter sauce and because of its content of vitamins A, B and C, it plays an important part in the diet of persons suffering from undernourishment, tuberculosis and diabetes.

This vegetable, originally grown in Italy and Spain, is now extensively grown in this country. It is becoming a popular food and deserves to be. I highly recommend it for its pleasing taste, ease in preparation and high nutritive value.

Don't Let a Childhood Love Dream Spoil Your Life

Remember that first sweet thrill—

When you were young and the world was young—

And Prince Charming came ariding?

Billie remembers. She remembers too well—so well that her heart is still tangled in the ecstasy of First Love. "How can I make myself forget?" she wails in desperation. "I know I'll never see Rob again—so why can't I forget him?"

BOY VISITED HER

And many another besides little Billie is making that—big, grown women, many of them wives, who still sit dreaming of First Love and let real romance go by for the sake of that first, sweet delight. Spoiling their lives for the sake of an old dream!

"Dear Sally:—

"I read your column every day, and I have profited by it lots of times, and now I want to ask you a question myself. Maybe you'll think it's silly, but it means a lot to me. It just seems as if my life were all tangled up in something I can't get rid of, no matter how hard I try.

"When I was a real little girl, (or 9, I got acquainted with a boy who lived close by, and we used to sort of pal around together. Then this boy moved away, and I didn't see him for several years—not till I was about 14. He came back to visit and honestly (it may sound silly), but we fell in love. After a week or so he went home again but, since he lived only 20 miles away and had a motorcycle, he used to come over three or four nights a week to see me, and we swore that we would always love each other. He was 18 then—and very serious. It seemed as if the most beautiful thing had come into my life!

CAN'T FORGET HIM

"Then about a year ago, his folks moved again. This time they went clear across the continent—so we couldn't see each other any more. At first, Rob wrote me long letters and, even though I didn't see him, I was still happy because he said he loved me. Then gradually, his letters got shorter, farther between. Finally, they stopped. And you don't know how heartbroken I am. It seems as if everything had just gone out of my life. He is 21 now, and I am 17—and I have tried so hard to forget him! But I just can't. I can't get interested in any other boys. They're just as nice as they can be, and I know lots of them and they like me but, try as I will, I always think of Rob and compare them with him, and none of them ever thrills me like he did. Please help me. How can I forget him?

"BILLIE."

Why should you want to forget the first "thrill" of your life, honey? It's a happy memory to look back on—one of the happiest your life will ever know. You'll never know another just like it. You will never feel just that wonder and delight again.

AROUSED EMOTIONS

Before you "fell for" Rob, you were just a little girl who wanted to grow up. And then he came. He disturbed you. He aroused emotions you never knew you had. It was strange and new and beautiful—and you looked on him as some sort of magic genie. He made you realize that you were no longer a little girl wishing to grow up—but a little girl growing up. His attention flattered you into a realization of yourself—your charm—as a woman.

But any boy you liked could have brought this magic to you, honey. The magic wasn't in Rob. It was in Billie—and in Billie's excited discovery of herself. But you didn't realize that. You thought Rob himself was the magic. And that's why you "can't get interested in other boys." You're trying to realize that thrill of discovery again—and because you can't—you're blaming them.

So don't try to "forget," little girl. Treasure that memory—but see it as it IS—as just one step in your growth toward womanhood. Then you can like and admire other boys and, some time, real love will come knocking at your door.

The Aching Heart

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

"Or the man who loved a dancer." We might call it that—for he told us he had heart-trouble—and we later found that he lived his bright evenings in the third row in a red-velvet seat with his worshipful eyes fastened upon a thistledown figure that flitted here and there night after night on the wings of a difficult and beautifully neat routine.

He said he had an aching heart. He said it felt sometimes like it had "pins and needles in it!" Sometimes it jumped up and down. Sometimes it made him see rose-color. Other days it just had a permanent and unceasing little "crick" in it. It was dented, he knew, because it beat unevenly with a sort of hitch-up in its "get-along." A poor toad under a harrow, or a finger caught in a motor-car door was as nothing to the dolorous smart of his aching heart. It twitched, it tinkled, it felt like a cold, heavy stone. Other times it fluttered and he felt sure it had grown wings—red wings that smarted as they beat upon his wishbone.

And then—then I found out! No wonder his poor heart tossed. For what wouldn't when danced upon: even by fairy-feet?

Correct Manners

A Graduate's Personal Cards

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. What is the correct form for my personal cards that are to accompany my graduation invitations?

2. Should they be printed or engraved?

3. Should the style of printing on the card correspond with that of the invitation? The graduation is from high school?

BENJAMIN.

1. Use a card of the conventional size and texture for gentlemen; your stationer will show it to you. Have your name engraved on it, with no abbreviations and with the title of Mr.

2. Engraved. All visiting cards should be engraved. It is better, far better, not to have any cards than to have printed ones!

3. The style of type need not correspond to that used on the invitations. The modified Roman is the most popular letter now.

Public Display

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct for a young man and a young girl, who are going "steady" or are engaged, or even married, to kiss and "make love" when there are other young folks present? It does not seem good taste to me and I have said that it is "cheap" and only a few people have agreed with me. I shall not be angry at you and would appreciate your answer.

OLD FASHIONED.

Indeed you mustn't be "angry" with me, for you and I thoroughly agree on the bad taste of public display of this kind. Your own word . . . CHEAP . . . is the perfect one to use for this. And this word is appropriate under all the classifications that you so thoroughly outline . . . friends, betrotheds, married couples.

Reply to an "At Home" Card

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly inform me what is the correct thing to do after receiving a marriage announcement and an "At Home" card?

If a letter should be sent, kindly give me a sample. M.

When we receive the announcement of a marriage, it isn't really necessary to acknowledge it. However, I add quickly, if the bride or groom is a close friend, it would be natural that we would wish to write and offer our congratulations or best wishes, or both. (Congratulations to the groom, you remember, and best wishes to the bride). The way this letter is worded would depend on the degree of your friendship. The note needn't be long, and would include the usual wishes for happiness.

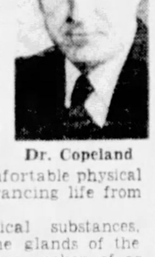
How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Glandular Extracts as Health Builders

Primitive man believed his courage would be made greater by eating the heart of his enemy.

Today modern medicine advocates the internal use of certain glandular extracts. In fact, some of the authorities claim that certain glands are capable of controlling age and that others possess powers of rejuvenation. The hopeful scientists think it may become possible to prevent the uncomfortable physical changes of advancing life from taking place.



Dr. Copeland

These chemical substances, produced by the glands of the human body, are spoken of as "internal secretions" or "hormones." From these organs, they are carried by the blood to other parts of the body and are used as needed.

These substances have been definitely isolated. They are known to be secreted from certain glands with big names, notably the pineal, pituitary, thyroid, parathyroid, thymus and adrenal glands. In addition, it is known that the pancreas, stomach, upper intestines and other glands secrete similar substances, likewise known as hormones.

In some diseases, there is a deficiency in the secretion of one or more of the hormones. When this happens, there is trouble.

For instance, when the thyroid gland fails to supply the normal amount of its internal secretion, we have an uncomfortable physical condition, known as "myxedema." It is startling to observe the favorable effect of giving an extract of thyroid gland in this disease. This is only one example of the administration of a glandular substance by mouth to promote a favorable change in the welfare of an individual. I wish space permitted giving you other examples.

Of course, there are numerous claims made that are unauthorized. There is too much unscientific literature on this subject.

Unless your physician recommends or subscribes a certain glandular remedy, you should not take it. It may be of no value whatsoever, or it may be harmful.

Chinese Visitor Startles Madge With Strange Request

So absorbed had I been by the remembrances which Katie's announcement of a message brought by a Chinese had stimulated that I must have paid no attention to her further words, for she timidly plucked me by the sleeve and murmured anxiously:

"Plees, Missis Graham, man say you coom qveeck. He act like he awful 'fraid of somtings."

"Yes, I'll go with you at once," I answered, going with her toward the door. "But, Katie, this man isn't working in Sag Harbor now, is he? I thought he left several years ago."

"Sure, he go 'vay right after he coom here last time," my little maid answered. "He say he shoost coom back today, und I tink from vay he acts, you can't get salt on hees coat-tails ven he get oudt by our door. Dot poor boonch of soup greens, he vun scared Chink."

Despite my anxiety I smoothed a smile from my face with difficulty, for Katie's version of American slang expressions is weirdly original. And then we were at the kitchen door, and Katie whispered:

"You no need be 'fraid. I told Jeem stay right dere by kitchen und vatch efery move dot Chink make."

"He wouldn't hurt anybody, Katie, I'm sure," I whispered back reassuringly, but my little maid tossed her head with a ludicrous air of sapiency.

"You no can tell from outside," she said. "He look as eef he vouldn't say 'Moo' to a cow, but he might be beeg tong man, you no know."

But the frail Chinese who stood patiently waiting for me in the kitchen, was no "beeg man" either of a tong or any other society. His was the humblest of roles in any drama, but I decided that Katie was right in one particular. The man was sorely frightened.

"Good-afternoon," I said, trying to put a note of cheeriness into my voice. But his was monotonous, lifeless as he replied in the slow, clipped utterance of the lower class of Chinese.

"You Missee Graham," he said, and the words were an assertion instead of a question. "You know me time before?"

"Yes I remember you," I answered, breathlessly. "Do you come from Lee Chow?"

His eyes were suddenly filmed.

"No, and not good say name."

"What do you mean?" I demanded, but he only shook his head and reiterated his monotonous rede.

"No good say name."

"Why not?" I persisted, and he answered me astonishingly.

"Bad peoples no like. Must no say name ever."

"But I must till I find out what you want," I told him, speaking slowly in the hope that he might understand half of what I was saying. "When you were here before, you brought me a message from Lee Chow about his employer, Mr. Hugh Grantland. Do you come from Mr. Grantland now?"

My head was in a whirl. If he had not come from Hugh or Lee Chow, what in the world could be his errand with me? I would not give up my quest for information regarding Hugh without another effort however.

"I won't say it again if you'll answer one question," I persisted. "Do you know anything about Mr. Grantland? Where he is, if he is alive or—dead?"

I brought out the word fearfully, with a queer little superstition concerning the possible effect of its utterance upon Hugh Grantland's fate. But the face of the man opposite me was impassive.

"Never see him, never know him. No come from him."

"What is it you want, then?" I demanded impatiently I am afraid, for I was sorely disappointed.

"Can no tell, she here," he said.

Katie drew herself up with melodramatic dignity.

"Look here, you poor codfeesh," she said, "you tink I steeck around because I vant to listen to your trash? No, Me, I got sometings better to do. I shoost stay here so if you bat vun eye wrong vay, vile my Missis Graham talk to you, I feex your map so you nefer bat vun eye or order vun again! You hear?"

The man looked thoroughly bewildered.

"If you please, go into the dining room, Katie," I said quietly. "I will call you if I need you. Close the door after you, please."

She flounced out, shutting the door none too gently, and I turned to the man. He came a step closer to me and said in low significant tones:

"You have box here, papers, inside. You give to me."

Household Hints

To keep cheese moist and palatable in warm weather, wrap the cheese in a cloth moistened—but not too wet—with vinegar.

When sonny's hair is just beginning to come in nicely, you can give him a splendid head treatment by rubbing equal quantities of olive and castor oil slightly warmed into the scalp before shampooing. It will greatly encourage the growth of that young hair.

Be careful about the placement of your piano if you want to keep it in good condition. Don't place it close to a window or against an outside wall. Avoid a position where one end is against radiator and the other in a draft from window or door. Keep it closed when not in use.

It should be remembered that a too hot iron will fade colors and that all stains should be removed from garments before pressing. Never let clothes become in such great need of pressing that the first creases have vanished. Always have something on which to test the iron before pressing rayon and silks. The former requires only a small amount of heat and a very hot iron might ruin the garment.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Weak ankles are caused by high heels which, not providing a good foothold, cause the foot to turn from side to side. Strengthen the weak ligaments by lifting up on the toes and coming down slowly. Sit with knees crossed, swinging the upper foot around in circles. Bicycling is a good exercise for the purpose of making ankles stronger. So is kicking.

Fatigue creates chemical changes in the body. Or, rather, the presence of waste materials in blood and muscles produces fatigue, it amounts to the same thing. Bugs of weariness start working. Sleep sends them scattering. The human machine is so regulated that fatigue products are carried away through the various avenues of elimination, the intestines, kidneys, lungs, even the skin.

Although perspiration keeps the complexion fairly moist in hot weather there is likely to be considerable dryness of the skin, due to more exposure to winds and sunlight. The old cold cream jar should be dipped into frequently if autumn is to see a complexion that is not warped, browned and weather beaten. Use cream before putting on make-up, and for its removal, and again at bedtime.

Puffs under the eyes will sometimes disappear entirely if the afflicted one will drink quantities of water and fruit juices. Local treatment consists of bathing first with hot water, then with cold, and applying pads of gauze that have been dipped in witch hazel. A bit of rouge placed under the eyes will make pouches less noticeable.

Cosmetic manufacturers have produced bottles, labels and containers that, in loveliness and charm, are pure joy to the feminine contingent. No need now of tucking cream jars and things away on closet shelves. They stand on the dressing table in noble array, serving as decorations. Smarty gals have them arranged on trays or in beauty kits.

Use Kleenex

Soft Disposable Tissues replace germ-carrying handkerchiefs

PROTECT yourself from germs! Here's one way many health authorities recommend. Use Kleenex. It's a new handkerchief tissue. You destroy it after one use. Avoid self-infection. Germs that live in soiled handkerchiefs can't get back to your face.

Laboratory tests show as many as 240,000 germs may live in a handkerchief after a single use. Think of the risk of carrying these germs back to your mouth and nose again and again . . . every time you re-use a handkerchief. Be safe! Use Kleenex tissues instead of handkerchiefs.

Costs less than laundry

Kleenex is so low in cost that it actually costs less than laundering. Thus it is ideal for children; for use during colds and hay fever.

Use Kleenex for removing cold cream; dusting and polishing; for wiping spectacles and razor blades; in the nursery.

You'll find Kleenex at drug, dry goods and department stores, in packages at 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00.

Bacteriological Tests Show:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 bacteria per handkerchief.

2. That organisms representative of those associated with colds, when impregnated upon linen and rinsed in boiling water and soap water, were not killed nor appreciably inhibited from growing.

from the spoon. Let stand several hours in an electrical refrigerator to thoroughly chill. Toss one-half the mixture at a time on slightly floured board and roll lightly to ¼-inch thickness. Shape with a round cutter, first dipped in flour. Bake on a buttered sheet.

* * *

CREAM CAKE—1 cup whipping cream, 2 eggs, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon orange extract, ½ teaspoon lemon extract, 1 cup sugar.

Whip the cream until it is stiff; add the unbeaten eggs and whip until the mixture is fluffy; add the sugar and beat until the granules dissolve; add the flour and beat just enough to blend; flavor; pour into small, greased and paper-lined layer-cake pans; bake in a moderate oven (340 degrees Fahrenheit) about 30 minutes. Put the layers together with any kind of frosting or with whipped cream and crushed fruit.

* * *

VEAL LOAF—Mix thoroughly 2 pounds of chopped veal, ¼ pound salt pork chopped, a cup of bread crumbs, a teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, an egg, 1-3 teaspoon powered sage and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Pack in the round kettle of the electric cooker. Put rack on kettle and place in bottom of the cooker. Put two half kettles containing scalloped potatoes and squash on rack. Put on cover of cooker, turn to high heat, and leave for 30 minutes; then turn to low heat and cook for two hours.

* * *

FRENCH TOAST HAM SANDWICH—Blend 2 cups minced ham, 2 tablespoons minced mustard pickles, a dash of paprika and a tablespoon of tomato catsup, moistening if necessary with a spoonful of mayonnaise. Spread generously between slices of bread, pressing firmly together over the filling. Beat 2 eggs, add a cup of milk and a little salt, dip each sandwich firmly into the mixture and cook golden brown on both sides in a little hot shortening. Drain on crumpled soft paper and serve hot as the main dish, accompanied by a simple green salad.

* * *

OLIVE AND PICKLE SANDWICHES—Put through the food grinder the contents of 1 bottle of stuffed green olives and several sweet pickles. Mix together with mayonnaise and spread between slices of buttered white bread. Cut in diamond shapes. Chopped bacon, pickle, mayonnaise; sliced tongue and dill pickle make grand sandwich combinations, too.

* * *

LIVER BUTTER SANDWICH—You can use left-over liver, even if it has been fried. When using fresh liver, slice half a pound and cook it for 30 minutes below the boiling point to keep it tender. Drain, cool and put through the food chopper, using the finest knife. Mix with ½ cup melted butter, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon salt and a tablespoon prepared mustard. Chopped pickles added to the mixture will make it piquant. Cut this sandwich in diagonal halves, trim off the crusts, and garnish with a lettuce leaf filled with a spoonful of sweet mixed pickles.

* * *

BEEF LIVER PIE—Parboil a pound of liver. Drain and cut into cubes. Place a layer of the liver then a layer of potatoes, salted and peppered, then a layer of minced onion, minced green pepper and a little paprika, and finish with a layer of white sauce. Repeat until all of the liver has been used. Cover with a rich biscuit dough and bake in a hot oven for 30 minutes.

* * *

LIVER CROQUETTES — Prepare a white sauce of ½ cup evaporated milk, ½ cup water, 1 tablespoon butter, 3 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper. Wipe and gently cook 2 cups of liver in slightly salted water until tender, then chop or grind. Add the white sauce, 2 tablespoons of mashed potatoes, a little paprika, ½ teaspoon onion juice, ½ teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper; mix well with the meat and chill thoroughly. Shape into croquette molds with the fingers. Roll each croquette in breadcrumbs, then in beaten egg diluted with 2 tablespoons cold water, and again in crumbs. Fry to a golden brown in deep fat, drain and serve with currant or grape jelly.

* * *

LIVER-STUFFED PEPPERS—Parboil 8 medium sized green peppers after the seeds have been removed, for 5 minutes. Wipe 2 cups cooked liver and grind with 2 tablespoons of onion. Add ½ cup evaporated milk, salt and pepper, ¼ cup tomato juice and 1 cup cooked rice. Lightly salt and pepper the inside of the peppers and fill them with the prepared stuffing. Hold tops of the peppers in place with toothpicks. Place upright in a baking pan with small amount of water. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate, 325-degree oven.

* * *

FIG-A-ROLL SLICES—Juice of 1 orange, 1 cup dried figs, finely diced, 1 package lemon gelatin, 2 cups boiling water, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup walnut meat, coarsely broken.

Add orange juice to figs and let stand for 30 minutes. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add salt and sugar. Pour over figs. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in nuts. Turn into small cylindrical mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve in slices. Garnish each slice with whipped cream. Serves eight.

* * *

EXCELLENT FRIED TOMATOES

USE OF CANE SUGAR IN CANNING IS NATION-WIDE

Refined cane sugar has long been the standard of home canners everywhere. It insures ideal results in jellies, preserves, relishes and all kinds of canned products.

Take advantage of the low price of sugar, also the bargains in fruits and vegetables as they appear in your market and put up a generous supply for winter use. These delicious home-made products will add healthful variety to your meals. Canned fruits are always appropriate for breakfasts and are complete desserts in themselves, or a tasteful ingredient in salads. What's more, such fruits are decidedly economical to serve regularly. Preserve with refined cane sugar. The Sugar Institute.

CURVE PITCHING HURTS INDIANS' STAR

THOUGH WES FERRELL'S record of 11 victories against six defeats is good enough to keep him among the leading hurlers of the big leagues, as usual, the fact that he has had a couple of skidding spells and has lost four of his last six games leads some baseball men to wonder if he is as good a pitcher as he was a year ago. Walter Johnson, manager of the Senators, is one who does not hesitate to express his opinion that the Cleveland ace is not what he used to be, and he thinks it is due to the use of too many curve balls.

Wes Ferrell

Johnson has the record of his own club to bear him out. Until this year, Ferrell has never lost a game to Washington. He beat the Senators three times in 1929 and four times in 1930, but so far in the present race he has lost two games out of three to them. Aside from that evidence, it will hardly be disputed that Walter himself knows a thing or two about pitching, and he says his personal observations have convinced him that Ferrell has lost considerable of his effectiveness by making the mistake of changing his style.

JOHNSON MADE HIS own great mound record through his remarkable speed, and he holds that Ferrell has erred in departing from that style of hurling to experiment with curves. The Washington manager points out that, with speed enough to throw the ball past the batters, Wes ought to depend mainly on his fast ball; that not only is this his best bet, but that curve-flinging plays hob with a pitcher's arm.

"Ferrell has a good curve ball," Johnson says, "but it is not good enough to be his chief stock in trade and enable him to get by the batters as he did last season. I think a pitcher ought to flash his hook just often enough to keep the batter guessing as to what is coming. In the games he pitched against our club this year Ferrell was constantly trying to slip over that curve and his control and effectiveness suffered in consequence."

AFTER IGNORING FOR a long time Cleveland's insinuations that he feared to pitch Bob Grove against Ferrell, Connie Mack finally sent in the lefthander yesterday for the long-awaited slab duel, and his answer to the charges of the Indian rooters was a 4-to-3 decision for Grove, the latter's fifteenth win of the year against two defeats.

It was the first time Grove and Ferrell ever started a game against each other. Since Ferrell entered the American League he has beaten the A's nine times in 14 games and during the same period Grove has trimmed the Indians 12 times in 13 meetings. Ferrell has never defeated George Earnshaw either. He faced the latter twice and lost both times.

HURLING THE BUCS to a 4-to-1 victory over the Braves, though his mates supported him on the offensive with only six hits, Glenn Spencer demonstrated that Manager Ens has still another pitcher in top form. But again the cry is for base hits rather than for pitching. Eleven hits in the last two games would appear to indicate that the batting brace which came into evidence less than a week ago had already spent itself. If the hitting of the Rovers had been in keeping with the hurling the club would be in the first division now instead of fighting to keep out of last place.

Burleigh Grimes

THE CUTTING OF the Cardinals' pennant lead to two and one-half box scores is due largely to the fact that Burleigh Grimes has won only one ball game in a month. When Burleigh pitches well the club doesn't hit behind him. He has lost five of his last six games and he had to pitch a shutout for his only victory in that time, a 1-to-0 decision over the Braves.

Bill Walker, the latest to triumph over Grimes, has been showing his best form in a long time in doing his share to keep the Giants at the heels of the first-placers. In his last three games the McGrawmen made only nine runs behind him, yet he won all three contests, allowing only four runs and 27 innings.

Burleigh Grimes 21 hits in the total of DEATH HAS CLAIMED another widely known player of the old days in the National League in the person of Con Lucid, one-time pitcher for Brooklyn, Philadelphia, St. Louis and other clubs, who died at Houston, Tex., after a short illness at the age of 59.

Lucid spent 16 years in baseball, seven of them in the majors. He did his best work in 1894 and 1895 for Brooklyn, where he was a teammate of such famous old-timers as Dave Foutz, Billy Shindle, Tommy Corcoran, Mike Griffin, Pete Browning, Frank LaChance, Billy Earle, Brickyard Kennedy, George Treadway and others.

CASTING AN EYE on former Pirates in the minors: Lee Meadows has been released unconditionally by Dallas in the Texas League; George Whitted, managing Durham in the Piedmont League, has applied for the post of baseball coach at the University of North Carolina; Heine Groh, managing Binghamton in the New York-Pennsylvania League, protested a game lost to Harrisburg because the umpire failed to announce the name of a pinch-hitter who knocked in the winning run; Claude Linton, with Wilkes-Barre in the same league, hit a ball over the rightfield fence in Williamsport, only the fifth time the feat has been accomplished in six years; Walter Mails pitched 28 straight runless innings for Portland in the Coast League; Buckshot May has been dropped by Oakland in the Coast League; Sherrod Smith is managing Greenville in the Palmetto League.

THE SUCCESS OF Frank Shields and Sidney Wood in the semi-finals of the Wimbledon tennis singles assuring an American champion, duplicates the all-American finals of a year ago in the same tournament, when Bill Tilden and Wilmer Allison were the survivors to fight it out at the finish.

The splendid work of the American pair at Wimbledon has strengthened the confidence on this side of the water that the United States Davis Cup team will be able to defeat England's best in the interzone finals for the right to meet France for the trophy.

IN ISSUING A public challenge to the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling title scrap in Cleveland tomorrow night, Tommy Loughran xpresses the opinion that Schmeling will be the victor because he oossesses greater stamina than the Georgian.

Tommy declares the German would have whipped Jack Sharkey if the latter had not lost on a foul. He says Schmeling took all that Sharkey could give and was the stronger of the two at the start of the fourth round, in which the foul was committed.

Tommy Loughran

"SHARKEY, by that time, had discovered that he could not put Schmeling down, and probably became discouraged, also careless," Loughran adds. "Had the fight gone the limit of 15 rounds, Schmeling, with his wonderful reserve strength, either would have outpointed Sharkey or knocked him out. I have boxed Stribling three times and I know just what kind of fighter he is. He is clever and experienced, but, I believe, does not like to be punished severely. That is why I think Schmeling will be the winner. I wish publicly to challenge the winner of this match, because I feel confident I can beat either of the principals."

BOSTON, July 2.—The Pirates are slated to close their strenuous and unsuccessful Eastern invasion this afternoon in a combat with the Braves. Immediately after the contest is finished, the Freebooters will take to taxicabs to enable them to board the 6 o'clock train out of Boston. Provided the connections are made as per schedule, the Buccos will reach the home port tomorrow morning.

Tomorrow will be open, but there will be two holiday battles at the Oakland Orchard Saturday. The Cardinals are to be the Glorious Fourth guests, morning and afternoon games being carded.

BUC RECORD POOR

Thus far on the excursion, the Buccos have won only five of their 15 battles. As a result of a sparkling slab performance given by Glenn Spencer yesterday, the Pirates trimmed the Tribe, 4 to 1, a bit of loose work in the field spoiling a shutout success for the Binghamton youth.

Either Heinie Meine or Larry French will face Skipper Bill and his boys this afternoon. McKechnie is likely to counter with Eddie Brandt, sensational lefthander, whose winning streak was broken upon the occasion of the last visit of the Braves to Pittsburgh.

McKechnie also plans to show Infielder Bill Urbanski this afternoon. This is the lad who was purchased from Montreal at a price reported as $35,000 and Infielder Chatham. The latest addition to the Polish family of big leaguers comes to the tribe highly recommended. The Pittsburgh officials were urged to bid for the scrappy infielder who batted around .350 this summer. He will be played at third base in the Boston lineup.

Spencer took the measure of Harry Seibold as he threw back the Braves in the third game of the series. Glenn had the door shut in the faces of the New Englanders with two out in the ninth when the rampant Rabbit rammed

INVERNESS CLUB, TOLEDO, O., July 2.—(AP.)—With the heat and the hazards already taking a terrific toll among favorites and spectators, Eddie Williams, diminutive Cleveland professional, shot out of the pack today to assume an early lead in the first round of the United States open golf championship. Williams scored 36-35—71, even par.

Charley Guest, of Deal, N. J., jumped into a tie with Williams for the early lead, duplicating the latter's score of 36-35—71, to gain another draw with old man par.

Tony Manero, of Elmsford, N. Y., threw away a chance to go in front when he followed his sub-par 34 for the outward nine with a 40 and a total of 74 for the round.

COMPSTON DISQUALIFIED

The British contingent suffered a series of blows, including the disqualification of Archie Compston for reporting an hour late and then admitting to the U. S. G. A. officials he was not in condition to play.

The official test of weather conditions showed a reading of 90 degrees in the shade, such as it was, and exactly 105 in the sun.

Boys with buckets of water were at every tee, but the golfers complained the water was too warm. Several players adopted Gene Sarazen's trick ice bag for the purpose of massaging neck and arms.

Armour went out in 37 and Cotton in 40.

U. S. OARSMEN DEFEATED

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 2.—(AP.)—America's two representatives in the Royal Henley Regatta on the Thames were eliminated today in their first trial heats. Harvard's third varsity eight finishing behind London Rowing Club's senior shell, while the London Rowing Club's "B" boat defeated Tabor Academy.

The Harvard crew was rowing in the Grand Challenge Cup division, while Tabor rowed for the Thames Challenge Cup, the junior division. Harvard lost by four lengths in the 1⅝-mile test, while Tabor lost by three lengths.

The crew which defeated Harvard was the winner of the Challenge Cup last year, and is generally considered the best eight-oared shell in the regatta.

The Tabor-London Club race was almost a repetition of the earlier Harvard defeat, the British boat taking command early in the race and going ahead to win almost as it pleased.

The time was 7 minutes 42 seconds, 7 seconds better than the time in the senior race.

Lexington Cancels Fall Race Meet

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 2.—(AP.)—Lexington's fall race meeting has been canceled because of business conditions, Thomas S. Scott, vice president and general manager of the Kentucky Association, announced last night.

At the same time Col. Matt J. Winn, executive director of Churchill Downs, said that cancelation of the fall meeting at the Louisville track was being considered by the directors of the American Turf Association for the same reason.

HELEN JACOBS ELIMINATED

WIMBLEDON STADIUM, England, July 2.—(AP.)—Helen Jacobs, last American in the women's singles of the Wimbledon championship, was eliminated today in the semi-final round by Hilda Krahwinkel German's third ranking woman player, making it an all-German final. The scores were 10-8, 0-6, 6-4.

Miss Khamwinkel will play her countrywoman, Cilli Aussem, in the final Saturday while Frank X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., the American youngsters, are battling for the crown in men's singles.

Miss Jacobs, after her surprising victory over Betty Nuthall, of England, in the quarter-finals, had been favored to defeat the little known German player and meet Miss Aussem, Germany's ranking star, in the final.

WOOD-SHIELDS LOSE

The Americans also suffered a reversal in the men's doubles today, Shields and Wood losing to Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnion, of France, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2, in the semi-final round.

STAR PILOTS ENTER RACE

Joe Baker.

Ramsey needs no introduction to the speed fans of Western Pennsylvania. He has established a big reputation. He was one of a quartet of riders known as "The Four Musketeers" a few years ago, including Lou Schempp, Joe Stach and Mike Hickson.

Hickson was killed in a speed event at Dawson last year, and Schempp has retired from racing competition. Ramsey is still going strong, and is confident of finishing in the money on the Fourth.

Joe Baker, winner of two races at Bridgeville on Memorial Day, also will compete at Monongahela.

A big power scraper is being used on the turns of the Mon City course this week, and oil will be applied to the straightaways to keep down the dust nuisance.

Henry F. Miller will start the 50-mile race Saturday, also the 25-mile stock car event and the 25-mile motorcycle race. The events get under way at 3 o'clock, daylight saving time.

JIM HENNESSEY DIES

NEW YORK, July 2.—Jim Hennessey, 32, well known boxing trainer, died here yesterday of a ruptured appendix. He trained Tom Heeney, Victorio Campolo and Jimmy McLarnin.

LOCAL STARS LEAVE

BATTALINO BEATS BRADY

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 2.—(AP.)—The featherweight champion, Chris (Bat) Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., waged a tireless offensive fight for 10 rounds to gain a referee's decision over Irish Bobby Brady, of Jersey City, in a non-title bout at the Jersey City ball park last night.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—Even in depressions you never see the rumor factories shut down or even go on half time. This week they've got Manager Ens, of the Pirates, walking the plank and Hack Wilson seeking other sunfields to conquer. A contract to manage Pittsburgh is always a short term note and if you stick for a second season it's like being a post-graduate. But it's hard to stomach the Hack Wilson rumor without a bismuth tablet. I admit Hornsby might depose his home run king and declare the Cubs' outfield a republic. But before he lets Wilson go, W will chew the situation over a won't be gum. Hack would be worth $50,000 a year to any piano factory just for his legs as models.

BOXERS FINISH DRILLS; STRIB FAVORITE

CLEVELAND, July 2.—(AP.)—The world heavyweight championship battle between Max Schmeling, titleholder, and Young Stribling, American challenger, tomorrow night, may be a whale of a success as a fight, but it appeared today the gate receipts would fall far short of the amount the promoters had hitherto expected.

As Schmeling and Stribling moved into Cleveland for their weighing-in tonight, officials of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, of Ohio, promoting the contest, were hoping for clear, cool weather tomorrow to stimulate the eleventh-hour ticket sale. Predictions were made that, with favorable weather, the receipts will be between $300,000 and $400,000 with an attendance of between 40,000 and 60,000 spectators.

EXPECT $300,000 GATE

If the receipts amount to $300,000 net, the figures will show a very slight profit for the Madison Square Garden Corporation for its promotional venture.

Both Schmeling and Stribling completed their assignments yesterday and started for Cleveland to weigh in at 8:30 p. m. tonight. Stribling and Schmeling are to weigh in at WTAM, Cleveland radio station, with the National Broadcasting Company sending it out on the atmosphere throughout the entire country.

Stribling, who expects to be heavyweight champion of the world tomorrow night, wound up his training last night without throwing a punch at a sparring partner. Five rounds of work constituted the final public training of the young southerner before he matches his speed, skill and punching power against the champion. The challenger was in high spirits and seemed to be perfectly trained.

PREDICTS KAYO

Pa Stribling made the prediction that his son, who was brought up to be a fighter, would knock out the German champion within five rounds.

Schmeling also finished his training yesterday and he is ready, calm and confident. There wasn't any pulling of punches or slowing up in the four sizzling rounds Schmeling fought his sparring partners at his camp, Conneaut Lake Park, Pa. He worked as hard in his final drill as he did on any of his earlier workouts.

For the second time in heavyweight history, the challenger probably will go into the ring a favorite in the betting. Those willing to accept wagers have made Stribling a 7-to-5 favorite but the odds may shift to even money by tomorrow afternoon.

George Blake, of Los Angeles, referee of the fight, will arrive early this afternoon by airplane from Chicago for a conference over the rules to govern the contest. Blake was due to arrive in Chicago this morning by train from Los Angeles. The rules provide there will be no draw and that the fight cannot be won on a foul.

BAER, UZCUDUN END TRAINING

RENO, Nev., July 2.—(AP.)—On the outskirts of Reno today, Paulino Uzcudun and Max Baer reached the last stages of training for their 20-round heavyweight battle Saturday.

Ticket selling continued today with $45,000 on hand, according to Promoter Jack Dempsey, and several thousand dollars more in the branch offices. This amount, coupled with the expected spot sales, leads Dempsey to believe the total gate will reach $70,000 or better.

Dempsey says he hopes to match the winner of this fight with one of the country's outstanding ring men and has mentioned Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Young Stribling and Primo Carnera. It would be a Labor Day battle.

Devine to Become Pilot July 6, Report

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 2.—(INS.)—Joe Devine, former Pittsburgh scout, is scheduled to become manager of the Mission Club in the Pacific Coast League, according to rumors.

The report was started by the announcement of George Burns, first baseman and manager of the team, that he had handed in his resignation, effective July 6.

Joe Bearwald, president of the Mission Club, refused to deny or affirm Burns' resignation or the report that Devine would succeed to the post of manager.

MAX AND STRIB SET FOR GONG

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., July 2.—(INS.)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, today scanned reports from New York which hads Young Stribling an odds-on favorite to whip his fighter tomorrow night, and made this succinct observation:

"Max is in perfect shape and will win on a knockout."

Jacobs has been secretly fearful of an injury to Max during the training grind and was jubilant over the winding up of active training yesterday. He said:

"All the headaches are over now!"

Schmeling traveled four fast rounds with his sparring partners yesterday, and climaxed all training activities with two rounds of calisthenics. Three of the rounds were with George Panka, Pittsburgh heavyweight, who left the ring with his nose bleeding freely, and the fourth with Tony Marullo, New Orleans slugger, who was dazed by a succession of short straight rights.

Max (Boo Boo) Hoff, Philadelphia promoter, and Paul Prehn, former middleweight wrestler and former chairman of the Illinois Boxing Commission, picked Schmeling to win over Stribling.

The entire Schmeling entourage will break camp this afternoon and motor to Cleveland where both fighters will weigh in at 8 o'clock tonight.

STRIBLING ON EDGE

GEAUGA LAKE, O., July 2.—(INS.)—Complete rest and inactivity marked this lakeside training camp today as Young Stribling, the Georgian boxer, anxiously watched the hours pass, waiting for tomorrow night when he mixes punches with Max Schmeling in Cleveland for the world heavyweight title.

Young Bill went through his last workout last night, a last-minute affair which was added to the training grind by Pa, the head of the Stribling clan, after Tuesday's drill which originally was to have ended the sessions.

It merely was a perfunctory workout, with the American challenger stepping five rounds of rope skipping, bag punching and shadow boxing for the benefit of a few fans.

Before the workout started, Strib weighed 188 pounds, the weight he hopes to make for the fight tomorrow night.

At the end of the session, Pa announced that the training was all over and that Strib would rest completely until the fight.

"He is in perfect condition," Pa said.

Young Bill will go to Cleveland for the weighing-in ceremonies tonight and then return for another day of rest until the fight.

MILLVALE BOUTS TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Rain last night shortly before time for the opening bout to go on caused a postponement until tonight of the Buck McTiernan-Ted Yarosz show scheduled for Hickey Park, Millvale.

The entire card will be intact for tonight and the boxers will not reweigh. In the event of rain tonight, the show will be put back one week to next Thursday, with an all-star card arranged for that date being either canceled or postponed.

Nordi Smith weighed 144¼ and Billy Holt 145¼ for the eight-round semi-final, Eddie Hebner 135, and Myer Frager 136½ for the second bout, and Frenchy Jennings 121 and Johnny Warner 123¼ for the opener.

Manager Hernon announced this morning he would put on the main bout after the opening preliminary to give the fans a chance to see all of it before hurrying away to catch night trains for the Schmeling-Stribling fight in Cleveland.

Between Rounds

Eddie Brannon and Chet Smallwood will box the main bout of an all-star card of four eight-rounders at Hickey Park one week from tonight. In the other battles, Ted Ross, Chicago middleweight, will engage Buddy McArthur of McKeesport, Ray Collins will tangle with Louie Severo and Mickey Solomen is paired with Billy Brent.

The Meyers Bowl card for next Monday night also has been completed. Benny Goldblatt, of the Hill, will meet U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, in the second bout, and Anson Green, of Homestead, will oppose Rosy Baker, formerly of Indianapolis, now here with Walter Pickard, the heavyweight in the opener. The semi-final will bring together Harry Fierro, of Chicago, and Marty Gold, of Philadelphia.

The postponed Johnny Jadich-Tony Herrera bout is in for July 13 at the Bowl.

Luke Carney is about singing the praises of Jack Zivic, the former Lawrenceville Bearcat, who is training for a comeback, and wants to fight Bucky Lawless, Buck McTiernan, or anyone else up to 154 pounds. Jack is boxing four to six rounds daily in the Pittsburgh Lyceum gym, and, as Luke, his manager, says, "cooling off" a lot of ambitious youngsters in the workouts.

The Schmeling-Stribling fight in Cleveland tomorrow night will be broadcast through the radiophone at West View Park.

Station KDKA and its low wave station, WSXK, will broadcast the heavyweight title match. Floyd Gibbons will describe happenings at the ringside, beginning at 11 p. m. Pittsburgh daylight saving time. Graham McNamee will give the fight by rounds and Sam Taub, New York boxing expert, will sum up between rounds.

George Courtney and Gorilla Jones top a card of bouts in Cleveland tonight for early arrivals for the heavyweight championship spectacle. Sammy Odell meets Al Shelk and Babe Triscaro boxes Joey Ross in preliminaries. Hoakan Hansen and Willie Oster fight an eight-rounder in Chicago.

HOMEWOOD FACES CITY LOOP TEST

By TOM BIRKS

The first-half championship of the Commercial and Industrial League probably will be settled this evening at Magee Field, when Reliance Life and the Rieck-McJunkin nines meet.

Bad weather had put a crimp into every game scheduled between the two teams. The fans will welcome a continuation of the hot spell just to see these outfits clash.

Both teams are going at a sensational clip. The Milkmen defeated B. & O. at Burgwin Field Tuesday, thus avenging the only defeat of the season, and the the Lifers took a fall out of the Coalers.

IMHOFF TO HURL

Imhoff will be on the mound for Riecks this evening. That seems assured. Miller's choice to start this important game remains to be seen. Capt. Spencer may decorate the mound, with Bill Gormley also prepared to take up the burden. The game will be called at 6:30 sharp.

The Book Shoe nine is staging the Jack to Giant Killer act in the first-half race in the City League. On Monday, the Shoemen stopped Dormont dead, and this evening the Homewood Club, the other contender for first-half honor, must visit Olympia Park. Taking away points from Mt. Washington seems to be a tough job, unless Bimmy Steele decides to flash the form that made him the outstanding pitcher in the loop last season.

The Steel City championship is also up for disposal this evening, the two leaders, St. Elizabeth and East End Cardinals clashing at the Homewood playgrounds. The teams will meet tomorrow evening at Leslie Park. The Cardinals must win both games in order to cop the title.

CARDS' TASK TOUGH

Defeating Danko's outfit in successive nights is a tough job for the Cards, or any club, to undertake. The Saints have only been defeated once this season. Hussey is going to pitch the first game for the Cards with Bob Paisley in reserve. Hussey, when in shape, is one of the outstanding young pitchers of the district.

In a game which was to have settled the first half title in the West Penn League last evening, Reliance and the Homestead Aces struggled to a 4-4 tie. The Homestead Grays again defeated the Altoona Works nine, at Altoona, 10 to 4.

The Crafton Church League All-Stars will entertain the Homestead Grays at Crafton this evening in an independent game.

DOEG BEATEN BY JONES

MONTCLAIR, N. J., July 2.—(AP.)—John Hope Doeg, of Newark, N. J., national tennis champion, suffered his first singles defeat in two years yesterday in the New Jersey state tennis championships. With him into the discard of the tourney went Herbert L. Bowman, of New York, the defending titleholder, and Jake Hess, of Ft. Worth, Tex.

Doeg, lacking practice, was an easy victim of David N. Jones, big Columbia University star. The scores were 6-3, 6-1. Bowman fell before Dick Murphy, of Utica, N. Y., in another quarter-final match, 8-6, 6-4, and Hess was defeated by Martin Buxby, of Miami, Fla., 6-3, 1-6, 7-5.

CHUCK KLEIN TAKES LEAD IN BATTING RACE

BOBBY JONES' Lessons in Golf

American Open and Amateur Champion and Former British Open and Amateur Champion.

One cannot help sympathizing with the poor fellow trying desperately to find some way of building up a sound swing when he finds himself submerged in a sea of "dos" and "don'ts" with scarcely a chance of finding his way out. There can be no question that the chief reason golf is so mystifying to the beginner is to be found in the difficulty of expressing in a few words the simple fundamental necessities of form. There are numbers of people who devote enough thought, time and hard practice to the game to make them reasonably good players if they could start out with an accurate conception of what they want to do. But in nearly every instance there is a confusion of ideas which makes intelligent progress impossible.

Bobby Jones

One cannot select one motion or even one series of motions and say that this or these is or are fundamental. If a basic principle is to be found it must be broader than that. It must be an idea rather than a prescribed procedure which can be charted upon a blackboard. It must be something for the player to accomplish with the club, rather than with his own body.

I lay no claims of invention or discovery to the theory of hitting from the inside out. I don't even know that I agree that such a manner of hitting is indispensable to good golf, but I do believe that if the duffer is seeking a fundamental conception to guide his practice and his development, he cannot do better than to resolve never to permit his clubhead to cross the projected line of flight back of the ball. Whether he will cross that line at or after impact depends entirely upon the kind of shot he wants to play.

DUB CROSSES LINE

Almost every inferior player swings across the line of flight from the outside to the inside. He is either a hooker or a slicer, depending upon whether the club face is open or closed at impact. One rarely finds a dub who stays at all times inside the magic line.

In order to be helpful, if possible, let me suggest within this limited space, how I should go about learning to operate.

In the first place there are two points in the swing which must be watched, two places where a misdirected move may make a crossing of the magic line inevitable. One is at the moment when the club is started backward from the ball; the other occurs as the club is started downward from the top. If a man will practice starting upward and starting down with this in mind, I believe he can very soon learn to swing in the proper groove.

In starting the club backward there is one thing which may throw it outside. This is the right hand. If the player initiates the motion by breaking his wrists, almost inevitably his right hand and wrist will lift the club and carry it upward and outward over the shoulders.

The proper way to start the backswing is by rotating the entire body, by turning the hips and shoulders upon a pivot, at the same time bending the left knee and lifting the left foot from the ground. I can think of no better way to make a start than by "taking off" from the left foot, by rolling the weight toward the inside of that foot. The arms may move slightly, but only to slide a few inches across the body. The hands moving straight backward drag the club away from the ball along the line of flight for a few inches, then turn toward the inside.

HANDS WELL BACK

This turning and swinging following naturally lead to a proper position at the top of the swing, with hands well back and the club pointing over the back of the neck to a point several yards to the right of the objective. The second danger point occurs here.

There are at least two things that can be done here to throw the club head beyond the line. To start with a pure turn of the body without throwing the hips forward is fatal, because such a motion pulls the hands forward, and this causes the club head to move more toward the player's rear. To swing outward and across the ball then not only easy, but inevitable. The same thing happens if the wrists are employed here to drop the club downward, as is so often advised.

There are three things which must be done to keep the club from going inside of the line of flight. They are: First, the hips must be shifted quickly toward the left along the line of play, ever so slightly, yet definitely. Second, the right elbow must return to the side of the body; and third, the hands must be moved or dropped a few inches backward and downward without straightening or starting to straighten the wrists. If this sort of a start is made, the rest is easy.

PAIR BY PAIR WINS

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. John Hertz' chestnut colt Pair By Pair yesterday joined the ranks of leading 2-year-olds of the season by a thrilling and unexpected neck victory in the $10,000 Hyde Park stakes at Arlington Park. The colt paid $40.16 to win.

TRIPLE PLAY STAGED BY PHILLIES

Associated Press

The Phillies may not be headed any place in particular in the National League pennant race, but leave it to that bunch of hard-hitting youngsters managed by Burt Shotton to produce some of the greatest thrills of the game.

Yesterday they defeated the Chicago Cubs, 11 to 6, which has been done before, but the manner in which they accomplished the feat was new. Chuck Klein blasted his way to the top of the league batting averages with his twenty-first home run, a triple, a double and a single, while three of his teammates, Mallon, Friberg and Bartell, were pulling the first triple play of the National League season.

PHILS SINK CUBS

Philadelphia's victory over the Cubs featured the National League program, which included the Giants 4-to-3 defeat of the Cards, the conquering of the Reds by Brooklyn, 3 to 1, and the Pirates' second victory of the series with the Braves, by the score of 4 to 1.

Home runs played an important part in the Giants' triumph, which reduced the champions' margin to two and one-half games. Johnny Vergez's tenth circuit drive of the season with Travis Jackson on base put the Giants out in front in the fifth, while Lindstrom's four-bagger added another run in the sixth.

The Reds also outhit the Robins, 10 to 8, but Joe Shaute tightened up in the pinches while the Robins held to the advantage given by Babe Herman's home run in the first inning.

NATS BEATEN

Once again the St. Louis Browns stepped in and widened the gap between the Athletics and Senators in the American League. The Browns defeated the Senators, 4 to 3, in a game cut to seven innings by rain while the world champions and Lefty Grove were eking out a 4-to-3 decision over the Indians and Wesley Ferrell.

The New York Yankees bunched four hits with an error to score three runs in the third and eventually beat the Tigers, 4 to 2. Art Herring allowed the Yanks only seven hits, but he couldn't keep them scattered while three double plays helped Herb Pennock.

Jack Russell just lasted to let the Boston Red Sox defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 3. Until the ninth, Russell had allowed only three hits.

Fred Leach joined the Thousand-Hit Club yesterday when he doubled against the Cardinals. He is the fourth National League star to reach this total this season, the others being O'Farrell, of the Giants; Wright, of the Robins, and Douthit, of the Reds.

KEYSTONERS ARBITRATE SCORES

A. W. BLAKE ED KUNDE HARRY HAINSWORTH TOM LADD R. M. TOLEN

Athletic Director Hainsworth is called upon to settle a dispute over scores in a foursome at the Keystone Athletic Club annual tournament at the St. Clair Country Club. A field of more than 125 competed. A. W. Allerstedt copped the title with a gross score of 77.

ALCOMA LOSES TO WILDWOOD

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Aside from the local boys beginning their fight for the national open title at the Inverness Club, Toledo, today, there is nothing in the way of district golf competition on tap.

Sam Parks, Jr., Highland amateur; Emil Loeffler, of Oakmont; Ted Luther, of Corry, West Penn open champion, and Johnny Capebianco, of Culberston Hills, Edinboro, Pa., are endeavoring to qualify in the big medal play test for Bobby Jones' undefended crown.

Yesterday, one of the finest interclub tournaments of the season, was staged between the Alcoma and Wildwood country clubs at Wildwood, the home players taking a lead of 95 to 83, for the first 18 holes of the 36-hole first annual competition. Next month Wildwood will visit Alcoma.

TO ESTABLISH TROPHY

It was anticipated that a trophy, to be known as the Dad Nichols Cup, will be established as a perpetual prize emblematic of victory.

Low gross for the day's play went to Dr. W. H. K. McDiarmid, who, though not playing in the team competition, due to an overflow of Alcomans, scored a 79 over the beautiful, but most difficult, Wildwood links.

Professionals Nelson Zimmerman, of Wildwood, and George Underwood, of Alcoma, put on a special blind bogey affair, and three deadlocked for top prize, R. C. Simpson, W. H. Guentner and Jack Wiley, each returned net 81s.

Oakmont's women yesterday retained their championship in Section I of the team league of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania, compiling 43 points during the season. They definitely clinched the honors at the Edgewood Country Club by defeating Allegheny, 8 to 0. Edgewood blanked Shannopin, 8 to 0; and the Pittsburgh Field Club defeated Stanton Heights, 4 to 3. Fox Chapel closed its season last Friday.

ALLEGHENY SECOND

Allegheny finished in second place with 27 points; Pittsburgh Field Club was third with 25, and the others aggregated the following tallies: Edgewood, 22; Fox Chapel, 18; Stanton Heights, 17, and Shannopin, 12.

Shannopin's women, in last place in Section I, now must play the Butler Country Club team, Section II champion, for the right to remain in the top section. If Butler beats Shannopin, it moves into Section I, and Shannopin goes into Section II.

A. W. Allerstedt won the Keystone Athletic Club tournament yesterday at the St. Clair Country Club with a gross 77. Ralph Sawyer and Roy Hunt tied for second with 79.

Miss Robinson Out Of Danger, Belief

CHICAGO, July 2.—(INS.)—Betty Robinson, Olympic track star, was believed to be out of danger today from injuries sustained in an airplane crash with her cousin Sunday.

Her doctor said there were no indications of internal injuries found yet, but that a triple fracture of the left thigh would require several months to heal.

Ace Hudkins Wins Over King Levinsky

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP.)—Ace Hudkins, of Nebraska, erstwhile contender for the world middleweight championship, inaugurated a campaign among the heavyweights last night by winning a 10-round decision over King Levinsky, hard-hitting Chicagoan.

Hudkins fought his characteristic charging, mauling battle, and during the first seven rounds built up sufficient margin to offset the Kingfish's strong finish. The Ace had Levinsky on the canvas twice—in the fourth and fifth rounds—each time for a count of nine.

BECKLEY COPS TWO GAMES

Beckley captured both ends of a double bill with Altoona yesterday, but failed to advance in the Middle Atlantic League, Cumberland and Fairmont both winning likewise.

Beckley took the first game, 13 to 5, slugging out 16 hits. The second went to the West Virginians, 5 to 1.

Cousins hurled a five-hit shutout over Scottdale for Fairmont, the Black Diamonds winning, 1 to 0. An unearned run was counted in the ninth inning with two out, a delayed steal paving the way for the marker.

Cumberland defeated Clarksburg, 3 to 1, and Charleston remained in the running by walloping Charleroi, 12 to 2. Johnstown nosed out Wheeling, 3 to 2, and Parkersburg turned the tables on Huntington with a 6-to-2 setback.

place yesterday when he fell in the fourth set of his winning play with Jean Borotra, of France.

With this handicap, the American youngsters fell in straight sets, although they made a battle of it in the first and second sets before finally yielding.

Betty Nuthall and P. D. B. Spence defeated I. Aoki, of Japan, and Miss Feltham, of England, to enter the semi-finals of the mixed doubles. The scores were 6-4, 6-2.

LOTT, MRS. HARPER WIN

George Lott, Jr., and Mrs. L. A. Harper entered the quarter-finals of the mixed doubles with a 6-3, 6-4 victory over Baron von Kehrling and Mrs. Satterthwaite.

G. P. Hughes and Fred Perry, of Great Britain, advanced to the semi-final round of the men's doubles with a 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 1-6, 9-7 victory over the South African pair of Nat Farquharson and Virgil Kirby.

DEAN CROMWELL HEADS TRACK COMMITTEE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 2.—Dean B. Cromwell, head track coach at the University of Southern California, has been appointed chairman of the All-America Board of Track and Field. Cromwell's great array of record-breakers recently swept the national collegiate field at Philadelphia and Chicago and for many seasons the veteran Trojan mentor has been producing Paddocks and Wykoffs and other super-stars of track and field. Cromwell announced the All-America track team for 1931 will be published next Sunday.

"The increasing attendance everywhere," Cromwell remarked, "indicates that track athletics are coming into their own with renewed popular favor and next year, with the Olympic games taking place in America there should be an even greater awakening. From that time on I look for a continued and steady growth in popularity. With this in mind, I feel that the All-America track team soon will command equal attention with the annual honor roll in football, which has monopolized the All-America spotlight for several decades. The All-America Board of Track and Field is composed of 29 leading track coaches in this country and I accept the chairmanship with deep appreciation."

The All-America track and field team for 1931, consisting of 17 athletes, representing 11 colleges, will be published in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other newspapers. The board, of which Cromwell is chairman, consists of the following:

PHILLIPS HEADS W. VA. COMISH

WHEELING, W. Va., July 2.—(AP.)—The Boxing Commission named by Gov. Conley met here yesterday and organized by electing George H. Phillips, Wheeling, as chairman and Fred M. Cochran, Parkersburg, secretary. Frank J. Maxwell, Clarksburg, is the third member of the body.

The state's new boxing law, which the commission will administer, was passed by the 1931 Legislature and was effective yesterday. Decisions on legalized bouts, left by the law to the discretion of the commission, will be rendered by two judges at the ringside with the referee casting the deciding vote in event of a tie.

Hereafter, bouts proposed must receive the sanction of the commission, fighters and promoters must be licensed, and the state must be paid 5 per cent of the gross receipts for any fight held.

Fees to be paid by promoters, whether individuals or clubs, are $500 a year, though American Legion and other veterans' organizations and charity groups are exempted from payment. Referees and fighters must pay $10 a year for the license required before they may enter rings in the state.

OWNER, HORSES SUSPENDED

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP.)—Joseph Leiter, custodian of the Levi Leiter fortune and who once almost cornered the wheat market, faced the possibility today of having his large stable of horses ruled off America's finest race tracks.

The board of stewards of Arlington Jockey Club fined Leiter $250 yesterday for "intemperate language and conduct" during his protest against disqualification of his filly Princess Camelia in the third race Tuesday. Turf officials of Kentucky, New York, Maryland and Canada have had working agreements with Chicago stewards enforcing suspensions on all tracks against jockeys and owners fined for infractions of the rules.

WINNAI TO TRY COMEBACK AT ALTOONA

By JESS CARVER

Freddie Winnai, of Philadelphia, who came within an ace of being fatally burned in the Flag Day race at Altoona last year, is going to make his second comeback attempt in the Altoona 100-mile classic Saturday.

Winnai was up among the leaders at the Tipton Bowl last year when his car, a long, black job, burst into flames directly in front of the press box and stands. Traveling at a rate of 90 miles an hour, the game Philadelphian was unable to bring his car to a stop until he reached the eastern turn. The rush of wind blasted the searing flames back into his face and that of his mechanic and though he rolled his machine by the time he was extracted from the flaming mount, he was badly burned.

Freddie was confined to a hospital for months, and for a time was not expected to live. He was unable to drive again until this spring, when he entered a car in the Indianapolis classic. He qualified, o. k., but was unable to finish in the money. The Hoosier race was sort of a tester, and Saturday, he'll make his first real effort to land in the big money.

Ralph Harkinson, promoter of the event, has invited both Schmeling and Stribling, who'll battle for the German's heavyweight boxing championship in Cleveland tomorrow night, to attend the races on Saturday. Boxes have been reserved for the fighters and their parties. Word is expected from them today.

BUCCOS FINISH EASTERN TRIP

a single to right to score their only tally.

Rabbit's single came with the bases jammed; he represented the tying run as he reached base, but with each hassock loaded, Spencer whiffed dangerous Red Worthington with one of his typical speed balls.

Groskloss again was a big star in the play of the Pirates. The sensational collegian with the back-home trade mark outguessed the Boston infield, including the smart Maranville, to score a run in the second, and in the ninth, with the bases filled, he did a lot towards saving the game by making a whirlwind catch of a little fly to right.

Neun opened the ninth with a walk. Traynor took Schulmerich's grounder and tried for a force play at second. Groskloss appeared to be a bit anxious to make a double play and he was not on the bag as he caught the ball. Spohrer fouled out in the clinch.

Maguire blasted a hot single to right that filled the bases and Skipper Bill beckoned for Al Bool to bat for Ben Cantwell, relief pitcher. Bool pushed a little fly to short right. For the moment it looked like plenty of trouble as Grosskloss and P. Waner tried to get to the falling sphere. Howie reached the spot after a brisk dash and hauled in the loft. The spunky Maranville followed with his hit, but Spencer fanned Worthington.

The hitting was tight on both sides. The Pirates made only six safeties and Spencer went the whole route on seven blows.

HEARING ON RAIL RATE STEP IN RECOVERY

Buying by Carriers Can Prove Important Factor In Restoring Business

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 2.—In connection with the "managed recovery," which the financial powers that be have been undertaking to stage, the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing set for July 15 on the petition of railway executives for a 15 per cent freight rate increase marks an important step.

Mr. Rukeyser

Railroad buying, which depends on a maintenance of railroad credit, can prove an important factor in restoring normal business conditions. Though suffering from outside competition, the railroads have, of course, been greatly affected by the business depression.

BONDS THREATENED

Their recent earnings not only menace their opportunities to continue dividends on the present scale, but even threaten the continuance of numerous railroad bonds on the list of securities eligible for savings banks and trustees.

Although Congress in the transportation act of 1920 instructed the Interstate Commerce Commission to set up a rate structure which would enable the railroads to earn a fair return on their property value, they failed to do so even in time of great national prosperity. One reason for this was the gradual whittling away of the 1921 level of rates by a series of 5,000 adjustments on individual rates.

Recognition of the plight of the carriers has caused the public to become open minded on the question, into which the I. C. C. is qualified to make an impartial examination.

TASK DIFFICULT

The way out is not simple, because indiscriminate rate boosting might well drive important traffic to competitive agencies of transportation. Though believing that the railroads' petition should receive sympathetic consideration from the public standpoint, I think that the real solution of the railroad problem involves broader treatment.

I think that the railroads should become great transportation co-ordinators, taking over useful competing agencies of transportation.

Banks, Exchanges To Observe Holiday

NEW YORK, July 2.—Banks, stock exchanges and the principal commodity markets throughout the country will be closed Saturday in observance of the July Fourth holiday.

Telephone Company Earnings Increase

Aggregate April operating income of 106 telephone companies was $24,769,507, compared with $23,968,463 in April, 1930, and for four months amounted to $93,984,551, against $91,773,452 in the like 1930 period.

Oklahoma Crude Oil Flow Fixed

AUBURN DEALER STOCKS CUT

AUBURN, Ind., July 2.—Auburn Automobile Company shipped 3,205 Auburn and Cord automobiles in June, compared to 6,717 in May and 950 in June, 1930.

R. H. Faulkner, president, stated retail sales in June substantially exceeded factory shipments. Stocks of cars in distributors' and dealers' hands have been materially reduced, he added, and reports indicate that dealer inventory is less than 3,000 cars, or an average of about two and a half cars per dealer. The outlook for July is promising, he said.

Shipments of 27,660 cars for six months of the calendar year to June 30 were more than double shipments in the entire year 1930, and 5,193 more than shipments in the entire year 1929, which was the previous peak year.

DETROIT, July 2.—Buick Motor produced and shipped 6,479 cars in June, compared to 9,256 in May and 4,135 in June, 1930.

Hupp Motor Car shipped 1,631 cars in June against 2,154 in May and 2,606 in June, 1930.

Reo Motor Car shipped 1,739 cars and trucks during June. This was a substantial gain over June, 1930, and compares with 1,737 units shipped in May this year. The company reports having a good bank of orders ahead for July.

KENOSHA, July 2.—Nash Motors Company June shipments totaled 6,815 new cars, against 1,186 in May. Unfilled orders July 1 totaled 1,939, with demand for new models likely to be fully as large as in June.

—By Wall Street Spectator—

THE OUTLOOK for the motion picture industry has taken on a much brighter hue, according to the latest survey of this field just completed by Standard Statistics.

It points out that certain constructive accomplishments have recently been witnessed, including large reductions in salaries, sharply lower expense in picture, and similar retrenchments which have effected noteworthy savings.

THE FIRST QUARTER income of three leading amusement companies was 32 per cent lower than in the initial 1930 period, as compared with a 58 per cent decline for 248 industrial companies.

With the industry now in its period of seasonal dullness, it is the belief of this authority that the bottom will be reached this summer, and that subsequent improvement should be accompanied by the appreciable gain in profits.

Therefore, it is held that consideration may now be given to the purchase of the more conservative motion picture issues, with scale-down accumulation favored in Radio-Keith, Paramount and Loew's.

ASSUMING THAT the lows of June 2 marked the bottom of the long bear market, it is now possible to look back and take cognizance of the severe price deflation that has taken place in the market since August 30, 1929, the beginning of the downward movement.

A brokerage house analysis discloses that copper stocks lost 82.2 per cent in that period; amusements, 73.1 per cent; railroad equipment, 67.8 per cent; steels, 67.2 per cent; chemicals, 67 per cent; electrical equipment, 66.8 per cent; oils, 65.2 per cent; motors, 63.9 per cent; stores, 63.2 per cent; rails, 60.6 per cent; industrials, 57 per cent; utilities, 54.8 per cent, and the foods, 42.6 per cent.

WILL SUPPORT GRAIN POLICY

CHICAGO, July 2.—C. E. Huff, president of the government sponsored Farmers National Grain Corporation, said that the announced policy of the Federal Farm Board in handling the Grain Stabilization Corporation's wheat stocks would be approved by the country's grain co-operatives.

He said that efforts to induce the Farm Board to retain its wheat holdings for a year originated with certain private grain trade elements who find themselves in position to reap profits from the storage of the wheat.

Business Down in Fourth District

CLEVELAND, July 2.—Improvement in the tire, shoe, clothing and textile industries during May and early June failed to keep business in the fourth Federal Reserve district from declining more than a seasonal amount, the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank reveals.

June Lake Iron Ore Shipments Decline

Iron ore shipments from upper lake ports in June totaled 3,808,043 tons, against 8,650,441 tons in June, 1930. For the season to July 1, shipments amounted to 5,753,259 tons, compared to 15,737,573 tons in the like 1930 period.

THE LONG, LONG, TRAIL . . .

THE job of your Life Insurance is to provide future comfort and financial safety for those you love.

The length of time it must serve them is indefinite—only the future can tell.

It is a fact—established by much experience—that in the majority of cases Life Insurance does not last to fulfill the mission for which it was bought.

The reason for this is because the amount is inadequate or because the sum which is left is dissipated by inexpert judgment in investing the principal sum, combined with many other reasons.

LIFE INSURANCE TRUST

is the modern and safe way to guarantee yourself that your Life Insurance will work to the last dollar for the protection of those you love.

By committing the proceeds of your policies to our responsibility, under a Life Insurance Trust agreement, you provide bank management for the principal sum, together with a kindly personal interest ever alert to furthering the happiness of those you leave.

See our Trust Officers. Let them explain. And send for additional literature.

KELVINATOR'S PROSPECTS IMPROVE

June Quarter Will Show Larger Profit Than Same Three Months Last Year

DETROIT, July 2. — Kelvinator Corporation closed the June quarter with net profit after federal taxes in excess of $1,414,467 or $1.19 a share on the 1,186,106 common shares reported for the quarter ended June 30, 1930. Profits before federal taxes in April and May totaled $1,300,000 and June profits are estimated at $400,000, or an indicated total of $1,700,000 for the period.

The outlook for the company's current fiscal year, which ends September 30, is somewhat improved as compared with the last fiscal year by reason of the inauguration, shortly, of a carefully worked-out prize campaign which is designed to stimulate sales during the dull July, August, September period.

SALES CAMPAIGN

With the housewives of the nation sold on the idea that they must have refrigeration in winter as well as summer, officials of the company see no reason why the summer quarter should not produce a fair amount of business. If the campaign succeeds as well as the spring drive put on by the utility companies, Kelvinator will be able to show profits in the September quarter instead of losses as heretofore.

A year ago profits of $2,112,965 for nine months to June 30, 1930, were reduced to $1,601,016 for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1930, by substantial inventory write-offs and a minor fourth fiscal quarter loss.

JUNE SHIPMENTS UP

Officials declare that there are not likely to be serious inventory write-offs at the end of this fiscal year—rather there is a possibility that owing to the rigorous accounting and pricing of inventory throughout the year, inventory may be shown to be worth somewhat more than its book value.

Cumulative unit shipments to June 22 were 89,853 against 79,978 in the corresponding period of preceding fiscal year and unfilled orders on June 22 were 65 per cent ahead of June, 1930. For the month of June company will ship more than 11,000 units against 8,600 units in June, 1930.

June Freight Car Orders Above Last Year

NEW YORK, July 2.—Domestic orders for freight cars in June totaled 972, according to the Railway Age, against 46 in May and 794 in June, 1930. No passenger cars were ordered in any of the three comparative months. Locomotive orders during June total 2, against 151 in May and 13 in June, 1930.

Best & Co.'s New Units Adding Materially To Earnings

Best & Co. has been purchased by important interests during all minor recessions in recent weeks. The stock is considered as one of the attractive merchandise issues because of the good record of earnings in the past and the knowledge that the new units which have been added in the past year or so have contributed materially to earnings. It is probable the expansion program will be continued as new centers are located which appear to assure good sales.

Increased speculative interest has been noted in Eaton Axle. Those who have been buying the stock have pointed out that any general improvement in business conditions in the future as a result of the changed sentiment indicated in the stock market would result in a better motor car business. This would be beneficial for Eaton Axle. Most of the traders who have been in the stock have been taking it on a scale, announcing their intention of holding the shares for the long term.

The current dullness in the stock market reflects the widespread disposition in the financial community to await the final outcome of the proceedings on the debt problem at Paris. The slackening of the pace appears to have been conducive to strength, however, in that the suggested absence of nearby offerings of any consequence has served to prompt sporadic covering by traders who put out new short lines a day or two back. Such selling apparently had been based on the theory that the market's recent pace had been too rapid for its technical health, and that a corrective setback of substantial proportion was to have been expected. The market has been governed by emotional influences since the debt holiday was first proposed and is likely to remain so until that matter has been finally adjusted.

In some quarters of the street the belief prevails that the outstanding short account in the speculative market is of more substantial proportions than is generally appreciated. What is more interesting, if the deductions in such quarters are well based, is the contention that the public makes up a considerable part of the present short position. If that is so any favorable turn in the news bearing on the debt moratorium might reasonably reflect in another spectacular flurry in the share list, for the public that has been venturesome enough to try the short side would probably seek cover hurriedly.

During the next fortnight or so the market is likely to feel the sustaining influence of reinvestment buying generated by heavy July 1 disbursements in the form of interest and dividend payments. Such disbursements are usually heaviest on January 1 and July 1 when the outgo includes payments made on a semi-annual basis. It is estimated that the total of such payments made by corporations in this instance approximated $950,000,000 as compared with approximately $1,001,800,000 on the corresponding date last year. The total includes $387,000,000 or thereabouts in dividends compared with $458,000,000 a year ago, and $559,000,000 interest payments as against $543,000,000 on the same date last year.

The Federal Reserve report on brokers' loans due after the closing today will probably be received with more interest than has been shewn in such figures over a long period. Last week's returns showed a further drop, $13,000,000, in the aggregate, marking the tenth consecutive shrinkage from April 15 for a total contraction of $443,000,000. The forthcoming report, however, will cover the period of most hectic advance in the market's rise on the Hoover debt pronouncement, and the expectation is that an increase will probably be disclosed. The size of the increase, if one is revealed, will shed some light on the character of the buying which took the market ahead so spectacularly in the week ended last Tuesday.

Dry Weather Aids Inquiry for Feeds

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Inquiry for feedstuffs may increase materially if general and copious rains do not fall soon, states the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Production and market offerings of the principal feeds continue unusually light.

The feed market strengthened during the week ended June 30 over the previous seven days. This was due to deterioration of pastures and extreme heat and grasshopper damage to hay and feed grains in the central west.

Chrysler Winner In Patent Action

DETROIT, July 2.—A decree was entered in United States District Court in Los Angeles, holding that the narrow profile radiator design and construction used on certain models of Chrysler automobiles does not infringe upon the patent of Frank A. Neveu. Suit was started more than a year ago by Neveu against the Chrysler Corporation.

Lower Operations For Valley Mills

Steel operations in the Youngstown district at mid-week were holding at 41 per cent of capacity, but the probability is they will taper to near 30 per cent capacity or below the last few days of the week because of the holiday and lightness in demands for most steel products. Activity in the valley will be lower in the last half of the week than in several years.

Western Canada's Wheat Crop Poor

WINNIPEG, Man., July 2.—Condition of Western Canada's wheat crop on June 27 was 59 per cent of normal, the bi-weekly report of the Canadian wheat pool said. This condition rating compares with an estimate of 70 per cent two weeks previously and 82 per cent at the end of June in 1930.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, July 2.—Upturns in grain prices developed early today, influenced by bullish crop reports from Canada. Estimates by the Canadian growers' pool put the condition of wheat at 59, against 70 a fortnight ago. Opening unchanged to ⅝ cents higher, wheat later scored all around advances. Corn started unchanged to ¾ off, but soon mounted with wheat.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, July 2.—Activity deadened on the curb market today. Professionals gave the list an upward flurry during the earlier hours, but lost their enthusiasm when the rally failed to attract a following. Only a few issues showed more than nominal turnovers.

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Fluctuate — Local Trading Dull

STOCK MARKET FLUCTUATES NARROWLY

Movements Indecisive As Wall Street Traders Await News From Paris

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP.) — The stock market dropped anchor today and awaited news from Paris.

Price fluctuations in the Wall street market were narrow and indecisive, as they were in the European bourses. With the approach of the holiday week-end, and the outcome of the debt negotiations still uncertain, traders were disinclined to take a position on either side of the market.

There was some bidding up of stocks before mid-day, and for a time advances of 1 to 2 points appeared in prominent shares, but after 12 o'clock the list eased off to around yesterday's final levels. U. S. Steel, after sagging nearly a point in the early trading, recovered to show a gain of a point, then slipped back again.

Publication of the Reichsbank's statement as of June 30 disclosed that with the $100,000,000 credit advanced by the Federal Reserve and other central banks, the German bank was barely able to meet the midyear credit and currency requirements and keep its reserve above the legal minimum of 40 per cent.

The Wall street money market remained surfeited with funds, despite the midyear settlements and the approaching holiday currency requirements. Call money held officially at 1½ per cent, but was offered in the outside market at 1. Veterans in the street could not recall any previous midyear settlement period in which funds have been so plentiful. This, of course, reflects the aggressive easy money policy of the Federal Reserve.

Corporate and trade news was meager. The copper market remained at a standstill, with some metal offered at 8¼ cents a pound, indicating a loss of most of last week's rise from 8 to 9 cents. Large producers, however, still held to their price of 9 cents.

The wholesale gasoline market in Chicago was again firm, as proration plans for the East Texas field were believed to be making important progress. The trade now expects to see proration in effect there within from 60 to 90 days.

SLUMP AFFECTS AUTOMOTIVE EXPORTS

Depression in Foreign Markets Chief Factor in Holding Shipments Down

NEW YORK, July 2.—Exports of automotive products from the United States during the current year have continued the unfavorable trend which has been in evidence since the latter part of 1929. Extreme depression in some of the best foreign markets for American automobiles and parts as well as the tariff barriers erected against these products in many countries, has served to counteract the improved foreign inventory position effected by the industry during 1930 through extensive liquidation of new car stocks at overseas points.

While a moderate seasonal improvement in export shipments developed early in the year, the total has held at an extremely low level, running close to 50 per cent under 1930 and about 70 per cent lower than in 1929.

CURRENT RATE LOW

For the first four months of the year, automotive exports aggregated $72,026,662 in value, compared with $141,559,442 in the corrsponding period of last year and with $254,134,917 in the first four months of 1929. The 1931 total was the lowest for at least six years, and represented a monthly average approximately equal to that maintained during the full year 1924.

For the first six months of the present year, it is likely that the value of all automobile exports will total in the neighborhood of $100,000,000, or a decline of about $95,000,000 from last year and of around $255,000,000 from 1929.

TARIFF OBSTACLES

Heavy increases in import tariffs on automobiles in many foreign countries undoubtedly have played a large part in the severe decline in shipments from the United States. However trade interests believe that the major cause of the drastic reduction in exports has been the effect of the world depression on buying power in foreign markets.

Notable examples of this influence are leading South American countries, such as Brazil and Argentina. They formerly were among the best foreign markets for American cars, but have been taking only a negligible portion of their former volume recently, due to the sharp price declines in the commodities composing the chief wealth of these countries.

Ingot Production Estimated Lower

Steel ingot production this year is estimated between 28,000,000 and 30,000,000 gross tons, against 39,653,000 tons in 1930 and 54,164,00 in 1929, according to Daily Metal Trade.

Public Opinion Favors Texas Oil Curb

DALLAS, Tex., July 2.—(AP.)—A swing of public opinion in favor of production proration in the East Texas oil field, largely induced by fear of water intrusion in many wells and low market prices, was seen as the most encouraging factor of this week by observers of the industry.

There was little lessening of drilling and prospecting activity in the field, a new and menacing giant on the world oil market horizon, as the Texas Railroad Commission deliberated at Austin before setting the proration allowable figure for July.

Operators still were disputing as to the proper method of proration and the allowable figure that should be set. Many still besieged Gov. Ross Sterling with requests for a special legislative session to enact laws giving the railroad commission "teeth" for enforcing its proration orders, heretofore boldly disregarded by many East Texas producers. But all seemed to agree on one thing: That unrestricted production was unwise and that, due either to hasty and careless drilling or to uncurbed flow, many wells faced the danger of ruinous water intrusion.

Output Cut Down

ALREADY THE CHANGED sentiment among operators, in favor of reduced production, had been reflected in production figures for the week, the total of 359,704 barrels daily reported by the Oil and Gas Journal showing a decrease of 11,658 barrels daily from production figures of the preceding week. This figure, though, still was far in excess of the 150,000 daily allowable set by the railroad commission.

Two large wells which blew in last week and caught fire, the Bell and Graddy-Stumpff near Kilgore and the Tulsa Oil Company's O'Quinn well near Overton, still blazed unchecked, despite the ingenious efforts of expert fire fighters to extinguish them. A huge gasser brought in by the Texas and Pacific Railway on city block 49, in the edge of the town of Gladewater, was subdued Saturday only after it had threatened the town with a blanket of gas, bringing fear of another fire such as that a month ago at the Sinclair No. 1 hole near Gladewater, which cost nine lives.

New Pool in West

CONTINUED ACTIVITY in Gregg and Rusk counties was reflected in 59 drilling permits taken out during the week. Activity in the Longview district was featured by the blowing in of the T. and P. gasser at Gladewater, the completion of five other tests and coring of sand in numerous others. The Magnolia Petroleum Company reported five completions, three in the Lathrop area and two in the Kilgore pool.

Opening of a new West Texas pool in Gaines County was seen as a possibility after the Landreth Production Company No. 1 Nick Alley showed 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas, with some oil. The test is 12 miles southeast of the Hobbs pool of Eastern New Mexico.

ESTIMATE CAR NEEDS LOWER

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Shippers of the country, through estimates just submitted to the Shippers' Regional Advisory Boards and made public today by the boards, anticipate that carload shipments of the 29 principal commodities in the third quarter of 1931 (the months of July, August and September), will be approximately 7,082,186 cars, a reduction of 724,851 cars of 9.3 per cent below the corresponding period in 1930.

These estimates are furnished quarterly to the Shippers' Regional Advisory Boards, which cover the entire United States, and are based on the best information obtainable at the present time by the commodity committees of the various boards. The Shippers' Regional Advisory Boards have a membership of more than 16,000 persons representing every section of the United States and virtually every industry, including agriculture, to be found in this country.

FRESH PRODUCE DEMAND UP

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Demand for fresh vegetables in the United States has resulted in increased production and larger imports.

M. A. Wulfert, of the Commerce Department's foodstuffs division, said production of almost all types of vegetables has had an upward trend in recent years and imports of all vegetables, except dry beans, peas, lentils and onions, also have increased.

Vegetables produced in the United States for market in 1930 had an estimated farm value of $554,760,000. Imports were valued at $25,546,464 and exports at $9,857,335.

Kitty Loses Footing While On Edge of Cliff

CHAPTER VII.

I was so surprised over the suggestion of this stout woman and her equally stout husband that I become a model for Paris gowns that I didn't at the moment get the funny side of it.

"You should model for Paris gowns that we make," the woman had said.

Of course I knew that only an exceedingly small per cent of so-called Paris gowns ever saw Paris.

But it was the money she mentioned that interested me. I had no idea they paid so much.

"She is busy now, Lena, maybe she will come and see us," the man said.

I agreed to that and he gave me a card. I promised to try to see them during my luncheon hour within a day or so.

The salary would be three times the amount I was getting in the store. That would not only mean more comforts for my sister and her two children, but it would mean more and better clothes for me.

I am afraid that it was the prospect of better clothes that appealed most to me for that had been my new problem—something nice to wear when I went out with Thad Parsons.

"A model!" sister Cora cried when I told about the offer at home, "I should say not!"

"But the money—"

"It isn't to be thought of, Kitty," she interrupted. "Models have to entertain out-of-town buyers, you know that. Those men think that all New York girls are immoral and that they own them if they buy them a dinner."

Father was inclined to agree with Cora.

"It doesn't sound so very good," he said.

OBJECTIONS REMOVED

I had an idea that it would be a small establishment because the man and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Miers, had been in the store together and approached me. In a big establishment they would have a waiting list, I felt sure.

But I was mistaken. Mrs. Wayne gave me half of her luncheon hour. We often did that in the store. This allowed me an hour and a half and I went down to the address. To my surprise they had two whole floors in a big building and a sign "MIERS' CREATIONS" was spread right across the block.

Mr. and Mrs. Miers were in a private office having luncheon that had evidently been brought in. I told them frankly about the objections at home.

"We have plenty girls who are glad to go out, and plenty who do not," Mr. Miers said. And to his wife, "Why not you go and see the poppa?"

She said that she would, and this puzzled me. It seemed that they were altogether too anxious. Mrs. Miers must have guessed my thoughts.

"Brunettes, red-heads, we get plenty; but blondes like you, with such blue eyes — real blondes, y'understand—are not so plentiful, and so many colors look better on your type than on any other," was her explanation.

Mrs. Miers did come to see father and Cora a couple evenings later. When she was through explaining there were no more objections.

"You are making a great mistake, jumping around like this," Mr. Fallon warned me when I gave my notice. He was head of our department. I named the money, and he had the nerve to tell me he didn't believe it. I merely laughed at him.

THAD APPROVES

But Peter Thompson — poor Peter! He was greatly disturbed about it.

"Now, Kitty," he said, "I don't like the idea of you being a model and having men stare at you and all that!"

The same Peter—talking as if he actually owned me!

"In another year I will be starting out in the plumbing business for myself—we'll be married then. Why not keep right on at the store until then?"

"I'll be the same Kitty Mason, Peter, whether I work in one place or another and that's that," I answered him. But I smiled at him, for I didn't want to hurt his feelings any more than necessary and he surely did love me.

I had not mentioned my prospect of being a model to Thad Parsons when I went out with him on his return. I wanted to be sure about it first. On Saturday Thad met me at the store at 1 o'clock. We were going out in the country for the afternoon. After he had driven through the traffic to the ferry I said, "Well, the next time I go into Hunter's, it will be as a customer and not an employe."

He turned and stared at me.

"What ho, Kitty?"

"What ho, yourself!"

Don't tell me you are going to be married!"

"I won't, for it wouldn't be true—at least not for a long while."

"Engaged, eh?"

"There's a young man who wants to marry me—"

"One? There must be at least an army of them, Kitty."

"But I'm not engaged." I finished, and then I told him about the new position, watching keenly to see if I could detect any objection on his part.

"Good for you—it was a crime to waste your beauty back of a counter. I'll have to come and see you on a pretext of buying gowns for my sisters—only I have no sisters."

"It isn't a retail place," I explained.

I laughed at his foolishness. I was happy again, all the world seemed rosy as we drove along the Palisades over the beautiful Storm King road. I had a wonderful new position. I would have money enough for pretty clothes and I had the friendship of this adorable Thad Parsons—a chap that many a society girl would jump at if she could get the least opportunity.

PLEASANT DREAMS

Molly Parsons—I always smiled when I thought of her because she had the same name as Thad—Molly had been openly envious when I told her about my new position. She had asked me to try to get her a place down there with me. I intended to do so. I couldn't help thinking what a thrill she would get if she were in my place right now instead of down at Coney Island with one of her boy friends from the store. And Dolly Hawkins—her disappearance was still a mystery—how she would envy me this wonderful afternoon!

"Dreaming dreams?" Thad asked.

"Yes; nice dreams," I admitted.

"Hope I'm in them."

"That's why they are nice, Thad."

"Is that a line or do you mean it, Kitty?"

"Guess."

"I forbid you to dream any nice dreams without including me in them," he commanded.

I wondered at what nice country place we would stop for dinner, but had a surprise coming. Away up in the mountains, in the vicinity of Haverstraw, Thad turned off into a narrow road through some woods, and at the top of the road he parked his car.

There was an opening, a small plot of grass and ledges and the most wonderful view imaginable up and down the Hudson. I shuddered as I looked down the almost sheer drop from the ledge.

"Look out, Kitty," Thad warned. I had run ahead when he was parking the car. I turned and saw him coming with a great big black-covered case.

PERILOUS POSITION

He put it down on a smooth place on the ledge, well back from the edge, and opened it.

"Thad—you darling!" I exclaimed, for it was a wonderful hamper, with dishes and silverware and containers and thermos jars. It meant a real picnic, just the two of us up there in that picturesque spot—so much better than any roadhouse dinner could have been.

"Darling yourself," he answered.

"I had it put up out at Roxmonte—folks are abroad, but the servants are all there," he explained when I asked how he ever managed such a spread.

Roxmonte was the name of the big place out on Long Island that belonged to his people. I had seen pictures of it and wondered why anyone would want to go any place else on earth when they had such a lovely estate with private beach and everything.

Thad was pouring iced orange juice and I wandered over to the edge of the cliff to watch some canoes with sails far below—they looked like toy boats that kids sail in a bathtub.

"Come away, Kitty, that's too dangerous there," Thad called, "if you went over that would be the end—and how could I live without you?"

I turned sharply, there was so much sincerity in his voice.

"Why Thad, do you really mean—"

Something gave way beneath my feet and I felt myself slipping down over the edge of the high cliff.

DAILY SHORT STORY

A Cool Million

Conversation Leads Girl To Wrong Decision

When Andy Nelson went into the Peerless Lunch Parlor Mayme Riorden saw that he had seated himself at one of her tables.

He was just another customer to Mayme, with the possibility of another nickel tip.

But when she came over to the table with paper napkins, glass of water and white metal "silverware," Mayme saw that he was a cheerful good-looker. She waited on so many grouches that a cheerful good-looker was a relief.

Mayme didn't take into consideration the fact that having to lunch regularly at the Peerless had a tendency to make one grouchy.

"How's the beef a la mode?" Andy asked.

"I'd stake my coin on a London broil," Mayme advised in a low voice, for she didn't want the boss to hear. The word had gone out to recommend the beef a la mode and get rid of it before it got beyond the serving point in age.

DATE IS ARRANGED

"London broil and many thanks," Andy said.

Mayme brought it.

After Andy had been in the Peerless four noons running, Mayme asked him if he was going to be a "regular."

"About a month or six weeks, working on the plumbing in the Ajax," he explained.

One Friday Andy said, "When do you quit tomorrow?"

"Two o'clock."

"How about going down to Long Beach?"

"Great."

"If you are jittery about going with me alone, bring along a girl friend and her boy friend."

"Well, I've got a swell girl friend, but she hasn't any boy friend. She just came to work here from my home town."

Andy smiled at Mayme. "I like straight kids," he said.

After the rush was over Mayme got Sally Trent in the kitchen and told her about it. Mayme and Sally had been friends back in the home town. Mayme had been in the city nearly a year and found the place for Sally a few weeks before when Sally wrote and asked her to find her a job.

"Well, we can always take mad money and come home and I'd like to go," Sally agreed.

At two-thirty on Saturday Andy Nelson met Mayme and Sally in front of their rooming house. He had a small car. They stopped at a drug store near the bridge and picked up a young man, Nate Lucas.

Introductions were made. Nate got in the back seat with Sally and Mayme in front with Andy.

The boys, both girls decided, were all right. They were dressed nicely, they were jolly and there wasn't a blush in any of their conversation.

In their room that night, as Mayme and Sally discussed it, they decided that both boys were O. K.

CHANGES MIND

They hoped to go on many another little outing with them, for, while the boys made no great spread, they bought good shore dinners, danced with them, went bathing with them and got them home about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

They did have a number of nice outings, Nate and Sally and Andy and Mayme pairing off. They went to Coney, down on the Jersey coast, out in the Jersey hills and around to many outing places.

Sally laughed.

"He isn't my Nate and I'm not crazy about him, but he's pleasant, good fun. I like Andy, too—I suppose you're crazy over Andy?"

"Sure—nice boy friend."

"Who knows? Plumbers make pretty good money, but we haven't either of us done any heavy love-making. I don't think Andy has any idea of marrying yet."

"Anyway, Andy's nice."

"Sure, so's Nate, it's fifty-fifty."

Sally started to speak, but changed her mind. She did not agree. Andy Nelson, Mayme's boy friend, seemed to her to be a thousand times more desirable. Only, she thought, it is silly to think such things—neither of them is serious or wants to get married.

So Nate Lucas and Sally Trent paired off and Mayme Riorden and Andy Nelson went together.

And then Mayme learned something about Nate Lucas. They were all down at Far Rockaway. Nate had a small boat there with an outboard motor, not very seaworthy, but safe enough for the inlets.

Nate had gone to get gas in the car. Sally was with him. Andy was down in the boat cleaning it out and Mayme sat in the shade of the landing.

Two men came down on the landing. They didn't see Mayme down on the sand in the shade.

"Did you talk with Nate?" one man said.

"But can he do it? Has he got it?"

"Has he got it?" The first speaker chuckled. "Nate Lucas has a million!"

"A cool million, eh?" The second man laughed.

"Sure, and no jokin'. He will see us through, he knows me and he's some sort of distant relation to brother Jim's wife."

"Hello Bob," Nate called.

"Hello Nate—say, we depend on you for that?"

"Sure—sure—why not?"

They went away.

The four went out in the boat in the inlet. Mayme was suddenly very quiet. She sat there and eyed Nate Lucas and Sally Trent. Her mind was in a turmoil, but working out to something.

Something had to be done. Sally didn't know about it. Nate was one of those quiet chaps you read about who have real money and never splurge.

GIRLS AGREE

At the picnic away down on the sandy point, Mayme put herself out to be mighty attentive to Nate.

"Sally didn't seem to mind. The next time they went out they went in Nate's car, at Mayme's suggestion. It was a newer and better car than Andy's.

Pretending to be joking, Mayme said, "Say, Sally, how about shifting about. Let me ride in front. I'm used to it. Andy's been fed and he won't eat you there in the back seat."

After that they seemed to have naturally shifted about. It was always Mayme and Nate and Sally and Andy. Sally and Andy seemed to be quite contented about it.

Nate liked Mayme because she surprised him by being so gay and jolly and sweet to him.

Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and many evenings the four were together, or else Sally and Andy would go to some picture and Nate and Mayme would take a ride.

One night Mayme and Nate had been for a ride away up the Post Road. When Mayme got home Sally was sitting up in bed admiring a ring on her engagement finger. Mayme had come in softly so as not to waken Sally.

"Don't tell me!" she said, and her eyes widened when she saw what a pretty solitaire it was.

"I'm so darn happy," Sally said, "and Andy is such a dear. Do you know he owns his own plumbing shop and does big contract work? And he's only 28!"

SALLY SURPRISED

"Why, Andy has a new contract that will give him six months' work, and he'll have to hire 20 men and he will make more than $50,000 profit in that six months and we're all right because he's going to buy a pretty house I like out in Melba, pay cash for it. I didn't ask him, but he showed me some of his bank books—and I'd marry him if he was broke!"

"Lovely, dear—but don't forget that Nate is awfully rich, I mean really rich—a cool million I know for a fact."

"That's surprising," Sally said, but she said no more.

The next day she asked Andy about it.

"Nate is bucking the artificial ice game. He has houses up country stored with ice and ships it down, he's got now almost a million pounds—wholesale at his ice houses—that will bring him $5,000 cash—not bad for Nate," Andy explained. "I staked him and he has paid me back. I'm going to stake him again this year."

"Never mind, we'll be married next Wednesday, and Mayme will have to find out about Nate's cool million all by herself," Andy said.

"That was why she wanted to swap you for Nate—and, believe me, Andy, that was the sweetest favor she ever did for me."

More than 119,000 of the people living in London are of foreign birth, nearly one-sixth of them being of Russian extraction.

TODAY'S NEWS PICTURE

"My plan is simple," says Doakes. "All we need do is get more people married. This will result in more discontented wives. And more discontented wives will result in more fan letters to radio crooners. Of course, this may result in more radio crooners—but the Government pest control has never failed in a crisis."

Only Property Guards

Sheriff Cain Has Done Well in Curtailing Authority of Deputies Assigned to Coal Companies.

The forces contending for fair play in the coal strike have found an ally in Sheriff Cain.

The Sheriff announces that in Allegheny County the coal and iron policemen who lost their jobs yesterday through revocation of their commissions by Gov. Pinchot will not be permitted to continue their career of brutality under the name of deputy sheriffs.

Deputies will be appointed to protect coal companies' property, but they are to be property guards, and nothing more. Their authority will end, ordinarily, when they leave the companies' premises. They are not to be allowed, as the coal and iron police were, to attack strikers on the public highways, nor to interfere with peaceful picketing.

This is as it should be, and fair-minded persons will applaud the Sheriff's policy.

New Taxi Application

It Is Not in the Best Interest of Pittsburgh That One Company Should Have a Monopoly.

The Public Service Commission has begun hearings on the application of a company for permission to operate taxicabs in Pittsburgh.

The petition is being opposed by the Parmelee Transportation Company, which has a monopoly of the taxicab business in this city.

The Sun-Telegraph holds no brief for any taxicab company, and offers no opinion as to the applicant.

But everyone familiar with conditions in Pittsburgh and other large cities knows that taxicab fares are higher here than they are elsewhere, and that the service, twice interrupted by strikes within the last two years, is unsatisfactory.

Competition might result in lower fares and better service.

Ignore Hitch-Hikers

It Is Against the Law to Beg Rides, and Risky to Give Them to Strangers.

Benjamin Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles, gives good advice in bidding motorists ignore hitch-hikers or others who beg rides with outstretched thumb as automobiles pass them on the highways.

In the first place, it is now illegal to solicit a ride in this fashion in Pennsylvania, the Legislature having passed a law at the recent session forbidding it.

In the second place, it is dangerous for motorists to give rides to strangers. There have been a number of cases in which persons thus hospitably taken into cars have robbed and even killed those who thus befriended them. In case of an accident, too, the stranger may sue you for damages.

Amateur Astronomers

The Fascinating Study of the Stars Is Giving Pleasure and Inspiration to Many Pittsburghers.

The Astronomical Section of the Academy of Science and Art of Pittsburgh announces the first annual assembly of amateur astronomers and telescope makers of the Middle Atlantic States, to be held here August 8 and 9.

The announcement is not only interesting in itself but significant as evidence of the development of the study of astronomy as a pastime.

Mr. Leo J. Scanlon, secretary of the Astronomical Section, who sends out the announcement concerning the convention, is a youthful North Side plumber. He has made several telescopes himself, and the group of enthusiasts with whom he is associated have constructed and set up in their own observatory a 10-inch reflector.

They find in study of the stars both entertainment and inspiration. There are doubtless many other persons in Pittsburgh who would find it just as fascinating, if they could disabuse their minds of the notion that one must be an intellectual giant to be able to understand astronomy.

Airport Progress

It Is Encouraging to a Bewildered Public to Have the New Municipal Field Praised by Aviators.

It has been said so many times that the job of constructing the new municipal airport was "bungled" that the impression has gone out that the field will be far from the first-class affair that the citizens were led to expect they would have.

It is encouraging therefore to have the word of aviators that Pittsburgh and Allegheny County will not have the slightest cause to be ashamed of the port facilities for fliers.

Col. H. C. Fry, Jr., and other representatives of the Aero Club and Chamber of Commerce said, after inspecting the field yesterday, that when completed it will be all that can be desired.

Mistakes have, of course, been made, and more money spent in all probability than would have been necessary if the project had been properly planned; but it is at least a satisfaction to know that when the job is done it will give us an airport of which we can be proud.

School Visitors

They Are Deserving of Applause for Deciding to Carry On Unofficially.

A curious thing occurred at the meeting Tuesday night of former members of Pittsburgh's Boards of School Visitors. Senator Mansfield, who was sponsor for the bill abolishing the boards, told them it was a mistake to abolish them, and suggested that the act was possibly unconstitutional and so might be annulled by the courts.

It may be that by court action or legislation at the next session of the Legislature the school visitors will again be cloaked with official authority.

They are deserving of praise for their decision not to wait for such authority but to carry on, unofficially, their inspection of the public schools, with a view to making recommendations for their improvement.

The Board of Education should give the school visitors a cordial welcome, even though they no longer are elected representatives of the people.

The Court of No Appeal in Session

(Copyright, 1931.)

Gangdom, which laughs at all laws EXCEPT ITS OWN, permits no procrastination once it utters a sentence. Ruthlessly it enforces its own edicts.

In the underworld, now rich and powerful, thanks to the Prohibition folly, a sentence of death MEANS DEATH and no delay, as Cartoonist Enright so vividly portrays above.

Great Wealth Makes Us Smooth

But Does It Improve Us? Hardly.

You have read of Solly Joel, who died recently, a man of fashion, magnificent residences, fine stable of racehorses, large following of assiduous friends and fawners.

Here you see him, in the heyday of his wealth, which, when he died, amounted to $60,000,000, after he had given away a great deal and spent a great deal.

But some things it CAN'T do. It can't enable us to eat or drink more than others without injuring ourselves.

It cannot enable us to enjoy the sky at night or feel, as we look at it, the intense emotion of a young boy or girl just starting out in life.

Wealth can buy flattery, but not LOVE.

It increases fear of death and suspicion of others. It does not let us know who is sincere.

However, wealth is comfortable, and here is Solly Joel thoroughly enjoying it, gloves and cane in one hand, leash for his little dog in the other, beautifully and carefully dressed by his valet.

A more interesting picture would show Solly Joel when he left the little public house, kept by his father in London, and went to South Africa to make his fortune.

You know his story—how the natives that found diamonds would sell them only to the old Boer farmers that could talk their language. How the Boers would not tell which natives had diamonds for sale.

Offering a ridiculously high price, Solly Joel bought an old, rickety white horse from an old Boer diamond dealer who had no other horse. Joel said he had to go somewhere in a great hurry.

He took the horse home, and, in the morning, long before daylight, he went back to the house of the old Boer, got on the horse at the Boer's gate and let the reins loose.

The old horse, like a milk horse on its route, took him to every native that had diamonds for sale, and Solly Joel bought them, paying a bigger price than the Boers ever paid, obtaining knowledge that was the foundation of his fortune. He was a diamond king and a gold king, and he left TWELVE MILLION POUNDS.

Do not envy him, however. He had to leave it all—even the dog.

At this moment he is just an ordinary angel, such as all the rest of us will be, whether we leave 12,000,000 pounds or only affectionate remembrance.

Marriage is like the morning newspaper. Everybody who's through with it tells you that there's "nothing in it"; but, somehow, that doesn't prevent you from wanting to find out for yourself.

Many a man who takes a secret pride in his wife seems to be afraid to say anything flattering to her for fear she might suspect it.

Why is it that when a man gets a successful, money-making wife, his one bright idea so often seems to be to kill the goose that lays the golden egg, either by worrying her to death with his jealousy or by filling her with an inferiority complex, by flirting with other women?

Close-walled and very chill and gray,
Where no birds sing.

Not by his journeys to and fro,
Not by his power or state
Can we another's riches know
Or estimate.

Not in far goals and splendid schemes
Accomplishment appears;
For wealth is in the dreams man dreams
Through all his years.

And her dreams hold a majesty
Which to but few is given;
They fly on shining pinions, free
And high as heaven!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 2.—It is axiomatic that the most influential citizen is not only the easiest for the reporter to see, but to interview. Austerity slides away at the journalistic approach. Col. Lindbergh, truly and deservedly great, is a notable exception.

Reporters have cooled their heels in the outer offices of suddenly elevated upstarts and been immediately ushered into the presence of Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Chauncey Depew. This courtesy does not exist solely in commercial fields.

It applies to great actors, top-notch authors, poets and painters. On his recent visit Gilbert K. Chesterton won the good will of all the journalists—from ship news crew to the touring correspondents—by his graciousness. And in return he received thoughtful consideration.

Maud Adams would not see reporters but her declensions were amiable. She was never abrupt. If letters were sent asking an interview they were invariably answered politely. It was explained interviews were never granted. Her wishes were respected by reporters and by photographers.

It is the insolent person who finds the going rough with the newspaper crowd. Once they have been treated discourteously they are like the elephant aggrieved. They never forget. And often this resentment is carried on for years in a conspiracy of silence.

Irvin Cobb's story, "The Thunder of Silence," was based on the actual experience of the life of a Washington statesman. He not only snubbed correspondents, but did not treat them fairly in news conferences. He was shunted to oblivion by being completely ignored.

* * *

The only vigorous opposition I ever met in interviewing was when a young cub in Dayton, O. My city editor sent me to question a rather prominent citizen who had married and chambered a nifty nautilus for his mother's former parlor maid. At the first question he leapt from his desk, shook me as the terrier does the rat and sent me spining into a corner. That experience focused all my ambitions on ultimately doing only inside work.

* * *

The most agreeable interview I ever had was with the British humorist Jerome K. Jerome. He not only furnished me with a couple of crack anecdotes applicable to the times, but when the piece appeared dropped a complimentary note to the publisher about it that won a $2 weekly rise. And did I need it!

In the mail today from a gracious gentleman in Florida came an hour glass as a souvenir. I had no idea it could prove so fascinating. The rhythm of its soft flow has something of great beauty, but there is a touch monotonously solemn in its drift. It seems to symbolize many present human activities—a useless rushing along into stagnation. The hum of a big bottle fly epitomizes the same futility. The tick of a clock expresses the passing of time but is cheerful about it. And now that I've got myself all smoked up musing this way I'm about half mad at my new hour glass.

* * *

The season has been toughest in history along the Rialto. In every block in Broadway environs one stumbles into groups of well-known players at liberty. They try to be casual, sometimes farcical, about it, but the pace is beginning to produce a rare strained look. Most of them drift from Lindy's to Ma Gerson's to the curb of the Palace and various coffee pots, drowning despair in cauldrons of java. This afternoon I encountered a monologist on 7th avenue. "Laying off this week?" I inquired. "This week?" he replied. "Name any week!"

* * *

The hang-outs of theatrical folk are always engaging. I usually seek them when dining out. Actors express the human frailties most of us would like to indulge but lack the courage. It is their easy mode of living more than their acting that supplies the magic of the theater to me. I get a kick just following George M. Cohan around in the manner of the dog after the covered wagon.

* * *

I dropped over to clip my bond today and found it in another sinking spell, and breathing heavily. Powerful influences seem to be keeping that bond from amounting to anything. I'm beginning to suspect Morgan and that crowd.

EINSTEIN'S NEW QUEST

By Archibald Henderson

In the third of his recent Rhodes memorial lectures at Oxford University, which conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of science, Prof. Albert Einstein has taken the world into his confidence regarding his present researches. The confessions of this lecture show the extraordinary difficulties with which he is confronted, and the almost haphazard way in which he is forced to proceed. Since that time, he has presented the mathematical results of his latest researches to the Berlin Academy of Sciences. Of the four possible paths of approach, he has found that two lead in the proper direction.

In the field equations of the general relativity theory, space was described both mathematically and physically. The equations were two-fold in nature. They not only describe the metrical proportion of space, namely its geometery; they also incorporated the law of gravitation, namely the physics of space. It happens, however, that physical space comprises not only gravitational fields, but also electro-magnetic fields. These latter, regrettably, are not simultaneously expressed by the field equations of general relativity. And there's the rub!

There are, in consequence, two modes of approach to the problem. There might be found some way of grafting the laws of electrical fields on to the gravitational theory. But this, as Einstein, Eddington and others found, is unsatisfactory, since the electro-magnetic fields, as well as the gravitational fields, are intrinsic features of space. The equations of general relativity should be so comprehensive as to contain both electric-magnetic fields and gravitational fields. To attempt to graft on the former is forcing a connection which should be organic. This is shown in the result of attempts to force artificially such a connection, leading to what are known, mathematically, as "singularities" which are not permissible.

The difficulty is seen if we compare the soundness of the basis for the gravitational and electro-magnetic field. In the former, Einstein had a sound basis on which to build. This arose from the so-called principle of equivalence, namely the expression of the equivalence of gravitational and inertial mass. Physical experiment of the most refined character shows them to be identical. This trustworthy principle of equivalence was a clear guide to the discovery of the metric of space.

There is no such clear guide in evidence for setting up a relationship between the gravitational field and the electro-magnetic field. Perhaps the famous Faraday-Maxwell electro-magnetic equations are only a first approximation, just as the Newtonian equations of mechanics are only a first approximation to the Einstein equations of general relativity.

The second method of approach to the solution of Einstein's vast problem is by purely speculative methods to attempt to hit upon even more generalized equations of general relativity which shall contain both the equations of the gravitational field and of the electro-magnetic field as special cases. The solution must be found in the principles of quatum mechanics, with some reliance upon the probability factors involved.

The fundamental properties present in the 10 gravitational field equations must recur in the new equations. From principles of analysis, four of the equations must be satisfied identically, in order not to have over-determination. Einstein, and his assistant, Mayer, have already found four separate sets of equations meeting this crucial test. Two of them contain the gravitational equations as special cases. Perhaps the riddle of nature lurks concealed in one of these two.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

After the fury and desolation of the war, after the inertia and despair of a false peace, Erich Maria Remarque has his lonely hero say this, in the new book—"THE ROAD BACK."

"Perhaps, sometime, I shall find someone to go with me on a stage of the journey, but for all of it, probably no one. Perhaps I shall never be really happy again; but I shall probably never be wholly unhappy, either, for something will always be there to sustain me, be it merely my own hands, or a tree or the breathing earth."

"Perhaps I shall never be really happy again, but I shall probably never be wholly unhappy, either"—it takes a great deal of living for a man to discover that. We start out in life with some expectations. Of course we anticipate dangerous and painful ordeals. Indeed, we demand them for our youthful ego is determined to live on the grand scale, and dangerous ordeals are both flattering and exciting. They make us feel like heroes and they keep us from being bored. And we're smart—we'll know how to regulate our ordeals so they'll never become a nuisance. We'll keep wonderful . . . full of adventure and romance and challenge. Dark moments, perhaps, but splendid darkness. Never any dullness. Never any ignoble resignation. High hearts and happy ones—that shall be our slogan. So we start.

Then, little by little, disillusion falls upon us. Nothing is quite as we thought it was going to be. Nothing is 100 per cent. Life, it seems, is mostly one shabby compromise after another. The great adventures go blah. The great challenges prove blooey.

"I SHALL NEVER BE REALLY HAPPY AGAIN!" we cry.

And at first, it seems that we cannot stand it. What's the use of going on with life that never gets anywhere, that has no perfect answers? No use—we decide. And yet we do go on. Hating, rebelling, sniffling with self-pity, snarling with resentment. Still we do go on. And, presently, if we have kept a fairly cool head and an open heart we come upon that second truth:

"I SHALL PROBABLY NEVER BE WHOLLY UNHAPPY, EITHER; FOR SOMETHING WILL ALWAYS BE THERE TO SUSTAIN ME, BE IT MERELY MY OWN HANDS, OR A TREE, OR THE BREATHING EARTH."

Always something to sustain us—

Not those dramatic, heroic, volcanic things which we had expected—but some simple, common thing which we had quite overlooked in our days of magnificent anticipation. The quiet satisfaction of doing a good piece of work. The homely pleasure of walking in the rain, building a fire, planting a garden, listening to a bird. The comfort that lies in the smile of a friend—a dog's nose nuzzling the hand—a child's shy confidence.

If we are wise, we come to know the joy of these, not as make-shift compensations, but as the truly beautiful, sustaining and enduring rewards of life.

Out of our ignorance and emotional greediness, we had built a splendid dream of melodramatic adventure. But how long could we have endured such an existance if it had come to pass? How weary we would have grown of trying to keep it up, on our "off days?" And what would all that show-off smartness have got us anyway? This is better—truly better—for this quiet stream of happenings is Life. The other was only a fantasy—this is Life. There is a mysterious power in these gentle joys—like the power of gentle rain and quiet sunlight. Unconsciously, they serve our growth. Slowly, but steadily, we strike root . . . going deeper and deeper into old, precious soil . . . beginning again . . . BEGINNING BETTER.
